Wearing shoes is a terrible price to pay for an education, according to Ingrid Larsen, coed at the University of Minnesota and a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. At home in Hawaii she never wore shoes, so Miss Larsen dons hers as soon as she gets home from classes. Above, barefooted, she is garbed in a holoko, formal Hawaiian party dress.

MORTGAGE BURNED
BY MESA CHURCH

A $16,000 mortgage was burned last night at a Victory dinner staged at the Community church at Costa Mesa with more than 250 persons attending. The ceremony was conducted by the chairman of the church board, Donald J. Dodge.

The mortgage was liquidated for approximately $12,000. It was stated that $4000 of the required sum was raised by the Costa Mesa church, $4000 was given by the San Diego district of Methodist churches, and a long time loan of $5000 by the Methodist board of Home Missions. Everett Rea, vice-principal of the Newport Harbor Union high school, was program chairman. Speakers were the first pastor of the church who served during the construction of the edifice in 1928, the Rev. Lyman L. Bayard, of Huntington Park, and the Rev. Lawrence Warren of Chino. The Rev. Harold Smith, present pastor, also took part in the program.

BEACH BOY TESTED

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 1.—(UP)—His voice in a church choir and his face on a Christmas card brought a youngster from nearby Long Beach a film test today for the role Nelson Eddy, as a boy.

The boy is Freddie Oldham, a boy chorister at St. Luke's church. For three weeks Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio had hunted for a boy who might resemble Eddy in boyhood. The child also had to be able to sing beautifully. Eddy, singing star, "grows up" in his next picture, "The Girl of the Golden West." The shrill voiced boy singer will play the role for the prologue scenes.

Frank Whitbeck, film writer, called the studio's attention to the Long Beach boy. He had been using Freddie's face on his Christmas cards. A studio scout heard Freddie sing and called him to the studio.

Works Many Years
With Broken Neck

ERITH, Eng., Feb. 1.—(UP)—Colleagues of Douglas James Rickman, middle-aged laborer, said today that he had worked for 12 years without knowing that he had broken his neck.

His friends asked him why he held his head in such a strange position when carrying a sack of coal. He told them that his neck "felt funny".

Rickman took their advice and saw a doctor. He was informed that his neck was broken. Rickman said he fell into the hold of a ship 12 years ago.

BORAH WARNS OF WAR DANGER

G.O.P.-Bourbons Rapped By Solon

S.A. BUSINESS MEN WARNED BY SENATOR

Both the Democratic and Republican parties have failed to solve the American economic problem, are "patching" the effects instead of curing the cause; machines have wiped out employment, and a new monetary system, or medium of exchange must be found to restore purchasing power of their customers, Senator George W. Rochester, of Los Angeles, told the Home Owned Business Association of Santa Ana this morning.

Unless the 11,000,000 unemployed of the country are given a chance to participate in national production and share in national income, unless the business men and women of America have the vision to save the situation within the next decade, there will be a national economic collapse, and a "man with a sword will come by on a horse and save it for them," warned the speaker, who addressed the local organization at a breakfast in Danliger's cafe.

Lacked Vision: Europe lacked the vision; Latin American nations lacked the vision, and dictators took over their countries, he said. Hitler and Mussolini took advantage of the necessity for the unemployed to eat. If this country continues on the profit system, a new way, other than work and wages, must be found to restore purchasing power.

COLD WAVE IN EAST BROKEN

BY UNITED PRESS
Winter's severest cold wave, which tumbled temperatures below zero in the north central states, loosened its hold today and moved north-eastward into Ontario.

The mercury began a slow rise throughout the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, U. S. Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said the wave practically ended in the middle west. As the great mass of frigid air moved into Canada, it fringed for the first time along the Atlantic seaboard. At New York City, where the temperature had held up near the fifties while the midwest shivered in bitter cold, the mercury

OFFICIAL REVEALS CAUSE OF TRAGEDY

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Feb. 1.—(UP)—Department of Air Commerce inspectors said today that Gerrard Vultee, aircraft designer, probably was trying to dive his plane into a canyon below Wilson mountain to escape a snowstorm Saturday when he crashed it, killing himself and his instructor.

Inspector Ram E. Dake, of Los Angeles, and his assistant, C. Wright, of Los Angeles, visited the scene eight miles north of Sedona where the wreckage lay, and estimated that Vultee had undershot his mark by 500 yards when he tried to cross the mountain to the valley. The wreckage was burned.

Bodies of Vultee and his wife were removed from the scene yesterday on stretchers after a coroner's inquest. The bodies were to be cremated today at Phoenix. The ashes will be strewn over the Pacific ocean, in accordance with the wishes of Mrs. Vultee's father, Max Parker, who is art director of Warner Bros. motion picture studio in Hollywood.

DAN CUPID RAMPANT AS NEW RECORD SET

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—(UP)—The little man with the bow and arrow set an all time high record in 1937, when 64,397 marriages were performed in California, the state department of public health revealed today.

June, with 8,081 marriages recorded, was the highest month, while February's total of 4000 was the year's lowest mark.

Of the seven per cent advance over the 1936 figure of 60,197, Los Angeles county contributed 2175 of the 5200 increase.

Fear Lost Boy Victim Of Cougar

COVELLO, Calif., Feb. 1.—(UP)—Deputy Sheriff C. H. Lovell, leader of a posse of 200 men who have been searching three days for four-year-old Teddy Thompson, lost in the Mendocino mountains, said today he had abandoned hope the child would be found alive.

"It would have been impossible for the boy to stay alive three days under present weather conditions," Lovell said.

Tracks Covered: Snow fell in this area today, covering both the footprints of the boy, found near his parents' cabin, and the parallel tracks of a mountain lion. The boy's bare footprints, outlined in soft mountain earth, ceased where they crossed those of the animal's.

"Whether the child was the victim of a mountain lion or of the cold weather is hard to guess," Lovell said, "but we all are certain he is not alive."

Thinly clad, the boy wandered away from his parents' cabin Saturday afternoon in his remote mountainous section. The searchers included several Indians of the Round Valley reservation who were more familiar than the woodsmen with the mountain trails and ways of the wild animals that frequent them.

COUNTY LOSES IN DAMAGE SUIT

The county lost another lawsuit last night as the result of the crash of a county ambulance last June, a jury in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court returning a verdict of $6000 damages in favor of Roy Wilson, owner of a service station wrecked and burned when the ambulance collided with the car of Charles C. Wilson and then plunged into the service station at First street and Harbor boulevard.

The jury at the same time, gave Wilson his second clearance of responsibility for the crash, by denying Head's claim against him. Wilson previously had won a $2800 damages judgment against the county, later settling it for $2500.

Faces Third Test: But Wilson today faced his third court test of responsibility, as a jury in Superior Judge G. K. Scovell's court started trial of a $25,000 damage suit brought against Wilson by Mrs. Ernest Biggs, wife of the ambulance driver who died in the wreck and fire, together with his helper.

The Biggs suit has been tried once before, resulting in a jury disagreement.

Attorneys Milburn Harvey, Santa Ana, and A. P. G. Steffes, Los Angeles, represent Mrs. Biggs in the action. Wilson being defended by Attorneys David French and E. J. Mize, and Kroese, who also defended him in the Head suit yesterday.

Head had sued both Wilson and the county for $15,000. The jury received the case at 2:48 p. m. yesterday and returned the $6000 verdict against the county at 8:23 p. m.

COUNTY ROAD OIL CONTRACT AWARDED

M. M. McCallen Refining Company was awarded the contract for providing road oil to the county today when the supervisors rejected the only other bid submitted on the grounds that it did not comply with specifications. The McCallen Company of Huntington Beach, will provide the three grades of oil at $1.85, $1.70 and $5 cents per barrel F.O.B. Huntington Beach. The other bid was submitted by the Standard Oil Company, and called for prices of $6, $7 and $9 per ton in tank cars and $5, $7 and $9 per ton in tank truck lots F.O.B. El Segundo.

Highway Engineer A. A. Beard said that the Standard Oil Company bid did not comply with the specification that the oil be from an Orange county plant. This requirement, he said, provides for keeping the oil at proper temperature.

MORE HEAT DESIRED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Two hundred students broke up the regimental ball of the Roosevelt high school cadets last night with a sit-down strike against waltzes. The couples—young men in full dress regimental uniforms, the girls in dainty evening dresses—sat on the floor for 15 minutes until the orchestra played "snapper numbers." Orchestra Leader Jimmy Gantley said that the faculty chaperone had requested that he play waltzes and "stay away from the hotter music."

LONDON, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Britain's naval patrol of the Mediterranean will be increased because of the torpedoing of the British steamer Endymion off the east coast of Spain, Alfred Duff Cooper, first lord of the admiralty, informed the House of Commons today.

Even as Duff Cooper spoke, four British destroyers were searching the waters where the torpedoing occurred for the "pirate" submarine, which the Spanish embassy in London declared to have been Italian.

RETAIN OFFICERS OF WATER COMPANY

Former directors and officers were returned to their places this morning when stockholders of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company met at the company office, South Glassell street, Orange. Directors automatically assumed former board memberships when it was found a quorum was not present. A quorum of stockholders has been present but once in the past 17 years.

C. A. Palmer heads the board as president and other directors are A. N. Saxton, I. L. Marchant, A. M. Robinson and D. R. Gardner. H. L. Haynes is auditor and members of the board of audit were John Dunstan, E. P. Stafford and S. W. Stanley. O. E. Mansur serves the company as secretary.

Mansur presented a report for the year's activities, stating that receipts had totaled $183,875.02, wages totaled $33,173.42, and the superintendent's payroll was $17,493.46. W. A. Ralph, superintendent, submitted a detailed report of work of the company for the past year.

Postal Receipts Break Old Record

Santa Ana post office set a new record in January when postal receipts struck a new all time high mark and, at the same time, set a record for the largest monthly gain for any comparative period.

Postal receipts for January, 1938, were $15,950.21. For the same period in 1937 receipts were $12,752.67 or $3197.54 less than the amount recorded for this year. Prior to this year the largest amount recorded for January was in 1931 when receipts for the month amounted to $14,106.17.

Heir Apparent to the Stone

Is this picture of mother and daughter a prophesy that the famous Hope Diamond will continue to glitter at the throat of an Evalyn McLean in Washington throughout another generation? Evalyn McLean the mother wears the famous jewel at left, and at right Evalyn the daughter, prophetically similar in pose and appearance, seems suited to the role of her heir apparent to the stone.

FROZEN FRUIT CASE ENDS AS DEFENDANTS PAY $300 FINES

Fines of $300 each were assessed against Jerry Miller and Edward Mills late yesterday following their pleas of guilty in the now more or less famous Anaheim Frozen Fruit case. Immediately after pronouncement of judgment by Justice of the Peace D. T. Hayden, the defendants paid the fines.

Pronouncement of judgment, after argument by the attorneys, against Western Fruit Growers, "The question of profit to the defendants," Justice Hayden said in answer to the defense's disclaimer of personal gain, "is inconsequential compared with the effect on the industry as a whole. Any attempt to close up the basement, pack and ship fruit at night and evade the inspectors is contrary to ethical operation."

Surprise Move: In a surprise move, however, the defendants changed their plea to guilty. The case was reviewed yesterday afternoon for the judge. He deliberated but a few minutes after hearing an hour and a quarter.

Had the $300 each not been paid, the defendants would have been required to spend 150 days each in jail. Maximum penalty stipulated by law is $500, six months in jail, or both.

BOMBS RAIN DEATH IN HONGKONG AREA

SHANGHAI, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Telephonic communication between Hongkong and Canton, and Canton and Hankow was disrupted today after reports of a severe Japanese airplane bombardment in the Canton area yesterday.

A refugee train from Hankow, due yesterday, has not arrived at Hongkong. Canton advances last night said that 13 Japanese planes bombed Fatsan, west of Canton, with bombs reported to weigh as much as 500 pounds. It was asserted that many were killed. Earlier, forts near Canton were bombarded and Chinese reports were that more than 20 civilians were killed.

House Speaker's Mother Is Killed

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Mrs. W. M. Jones, 57, mother of William Moseley Jones, speaker of the assembly and chairman of the interim committee conducting vice hearings here, was killed today in a head-on collision of automobiles in Vernon, a suburb.

Wet pavement, due to the storm, was blamed for the accident. Mrs. Jones was riding with Mrs. Della Kissinger, who suffered severe concussion, cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Kissinger's automobile turned over, throwing both women to the pavement. Mrs. Jones died en route to the Maywood hospital. Henry Rudolph of Huntington Park, driver of the other car, was not held.

Paul Wright On Stand In Own Defense

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Paul A. Wright, 39-year-old aviation executive, today told a jury of nine men and three women how he went into a "white flame of rage" and shot his wife, Evelyn, 28, and his best friend, John Kimmel, 35, when he found them in a compromising situation in the Wright home last Nov. 9.

Five hundred persons jammed the courtroom of Judge Ingall Bull and milled about the corridors as the slight, dark-haired former president of the city's largest airport testified.

Wright Nervous: He appeared extremely haggard as Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler began questioning him.

Giesler's first questions dealt with Wright's experiences as an artillery sergeant in the World War. Wright said he was gassed and his experiences during three months at the front caused him to be highly nervous and emotionally upset when he returned from France.

"I was very nervous, very emotional," Wright said. "I took things very seriously and did not like to talk about the war."

"I would talk in my sleep and I always thought that the nervousness was a weakness to be covered up."

Wright pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity to the double murder charge.

If he is convicted as a result of the present trial, the same jury will hear the insanity trial.

BEACH 'SPIES' PLANT OYSTERS

Orange county's Japanese spy plot that sent Sheriff Logan Jackson and Deputy James W. Rkman speeding to Newport Beach yesterday went p-f-t.

Someone called the sheriff's office and said that two carloads of Japanese were taking photographs of Upper Newport Bay, and expressed the fear that the photographs might be turned over to the Nipponese government.

The fact that there are no government works constructed on Upper Newport Bay and that the up bay is navigable only by row-boat and canoe had no bearing on the case.

Surround Suspects: Sheriff Jackson and his deputy rushed to the scene and discovered the Japanese. They not only found the Japanese but discovered they had a camera. The only thing wrong with the picture was:

The Japanese were planting oysters in the upper bay; they had already obtained the sanction of the State Fish and Game Commission and they were accompanied by two inspectors for the commission. The inspectors were supervising installation of the oyster bed. Photographs had been taken but they were of the oyster bed to be used for locating the spot in the future when the little oysters became big ones and are ready for stews or cocktails.

BREAK GROUND FOR ANAHEIM BUILDING

With officials of the city of Anaheim, Mutual Orange Distributors and the Union Pacific Railway in attendance ground was broken this morning for the new home of Cal-Juices Inc. The site is north of Anaheim. Two hundred persons were present.

Among those present were Bruce McDaniel, general manager of the M.O.D.; A. E. Isham, field manager, J. H. Strat, president of M.O.D.; Mayor Charles H. Mann, Eugene Durfee, architect; A. A. Murphy, Frank Stronx, E. A. Coons, W. E. Rausch and W. A. Shook, all officials of the Union Pacific, the latter district agent here.

E. L. Hackley, president of Cal-Juices, turned the first shovel of dirt and immediately following the ceremony excavating work was started.

In his talk McDaniel said that the juice project will give growers complete control of their product and said that they will be in a better position to compete with other districts.

Heavy Slides Hit Carmel Highway

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Heavy slides at San Carpolo creek near the San Luis Obispo-Monterey county line, have closed the Carmel-San Simeon coast highway, the state division of highways reported today.

U. S. Highway 50, the Placer-ville-Lake Tahoe highway, was closed by snow at Echo Summit. Engineers said the road will be closed at that point until spring.

VETERAN OF SENATE SAYS 'WORLD MAD'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Sen. William E. Borah, R., Ida., interrupted a momentous senate debate on foreign policy today to warn the administration against repetition of "the very things that brought on the World War."

The veteran Idahoan, former chairman of the foreign relations committee, pointed with concern to recent statements and events in both Great Britain and the United States which he said gave other nations the impressions that there was a tacit alliance or understanding between the two countries.

World "Gone Mad": "The world, he said, 'has gone mad' partly because of the impression given that these two nations are building up their naval armament as a result of joint consultation.

"These," Borah cried, "are the very things that brought on the World War."

Borah, Sen. Hiram W. Johnson, R., Calif., Chairman Key Pittman, D., Nev., of the senate foreign relations committee, and Sen. J. Hamilton Lewis, D., Ill., joined in the significant debate at the opening of today's session.

It followed the statement of Admiral William D. Leahy before a house committee that international conditions are more threatening now than at any time since 1913. Leahy urged enactment of President Roosevelt's national defense expansion program and said that if Japan is building 43,000 ton battleships the United States will probably do the same.

Pittman defended the admini-

37 MAROONED AS SNOW BLOCKED ROAD

STOCKTON, Calif., Feb. 1.—(UP)—Thirty-seven persons, most of them students or members of the faculty at the College of the Pacific, were marooned today in Pinecrest, Sierra Nevada mountain resort, by heavy snowfall that accompanied storms general along the Pacific coast.

Since the refugees had a telephone to the outside and a hotel and cabins in which to stay their situation was not regarded as serious. Snowplows were working toward Pinecrest, attempting to reopen the highway.

A chartered bus took 33 persons from the College of the Pacific to Pinecrest yesterday morning but the bus found its way blocked when it attempted to return. The others marooned were Bessie Fraser, Barbara Owen, Mary Day Martin and Harriet Wooley, all of Stockton, whose ages ranged between 18 and 22. They were isolated in a mountain cabin near Pinehurst.

istration's foreign policy as one of "non-interference and non-intervention" in affairs of other nations.

Johnson repeated his demand that the administration explain what its foreign policy is "because I am gravely concerned" about current events and events of the future.

Lewis said that officials "of a certain nation" had distorted American statements of policy in an attempt to support that nation's position in international affairs.

Borah seized upon that statement to voice his warning against permitting an impression to spread that the United States and Great Britain were working together.

Answers Questions
Leahy's statement followed an inquiry by Rep. W. Sterling Cole, R., N. Y., as to the number of battleships contemplated under the proposed program. The authorizing measure introduced by Chairman Carl Vinson, D., Ga., calls for an increase of 105,000 tons but does not specify the number.

Leahy replied that if the present $5,000 ton limit were continued it would mean three ships, making a total of 18 under age dreadnaughts.

Rep. William H. Sutphin, D., N. J., asked Leahy whether battleships larger than 40,000 tons could pass through the Panama canal.

"I think they could," said Leahy. In response to questions by Rep. John J. McGrath, D., Calif., Leahy said the navy would like to have additional shipbuilding facilities on the west coast. McGrath said he intended to offer an amendment to allocate some of the proposed construction to the Pacific yards.

Questioned as to the navy's policy of protecting citizens abroad, Leahy said it did not extend beyond removing them from danger zones. He said approximately 7000 had been removed from China.

IDENTICAL BIDS ARE PRESENTED COUNTY

For the second time identical bids were submitted to the board of supervisors today for construction of disposal sumps and casing for the wells in the West Street Conservation Basin.

Bids for construction of the disposal sumps were submitted by Robert Arundell, Charles Wilson and Walter O. Hill. Bids for installing the casing were filed by the State Steel Products, Inc., and Southern Pipe and Casing Company. The bids were referred to Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson for checking and report at 2 p. m.

Five bids submitted for grading and paving a portion of Coast boulevard at the entrance to Newport Beach were referred to Highway Engineer A. A. Beard for checking and a report at 2 p. m. today.

Court Notes

W. A. Curtis and Louise Carr, alias Powellson, were on trial today before a jury in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court, charged with grand theft of $700 from Mrs. Florence Risk, Tustin widow, to whom they allegedly sold worthless New Mexico oil leases.

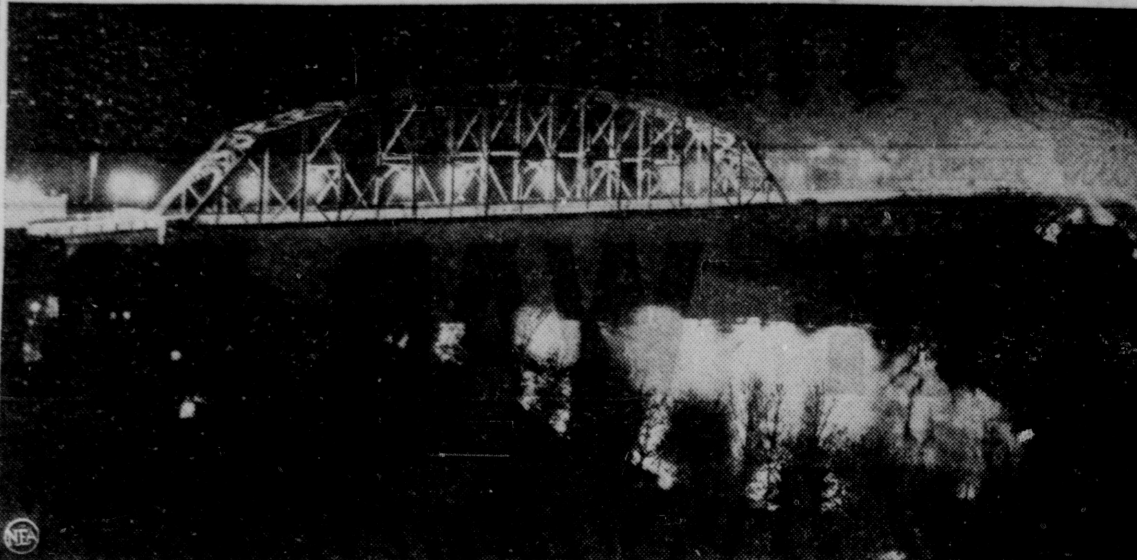

Three divorce suits were on file today in superior court. Mrs. Laurette A. Virgo charging Bramwell Virgo with desertion; Fred Beverly accusing Mrs. Gertrude Beverly of cruelty; and Leo A. Fisher making similar charges against Mrs. Thelma Fisher.

The late Claude H. Maret, 30, of Santa Ana, who died January 16, left residential property valued at $2550 to his parents, John and Emma Maret, of Santa Ana. It was shown when his will was filed for probate in superior court. He intentionally omitted his estranged wife, Pearl Maret, 29, the will stated.

Ray H. Lindman and his sister, Ruth Hammond Warner, 31, also known as Ruth Lindman, are heirs to the estate left by their mother, the late Bertha Hammond Warner, of Santa Ana, who died January 27. It was shown today with the filing of the will for probate in superior court. The girl's share was left in trust with a local bank until she is 25.

Aid for Army In Crossing the Delaware

An important link in the military highways threading the east, the $2,500,000 toll bridge across the Delaware river between Easton, Pa., and Phillipsburg, N. J., offers a new short line to the steel and coal regions of Northeastern Pennsylvania. The illumination that silhouettes the steelwork above is said to make the bridge one of the best-lighted in the United States. Vapor lamps prevent both glare and shadows at night.

G. O. P. - BOUBONS RAPPED BY SOLON

to the consumer, said Senator Rochester. "The sweat of your brow is no longer a source of wealth," he declared, referring to the displacement of labor by machinery. The machine, he said, concentrates wealth in a few hands.

Raps Machine Age
U. S. Department of Labor statistics, he said, show that steam machinery permits 4,000,000 men to do the work of 100 men using steam; 2,500,000 farmers, with machinery, can do the work of 12,000,000 farmers.

In 1923, he said, we were producing only 89 per cent of our capacity, but even then produced 67 per cent more than we could consume.

Blaming a maladjustment of wages as the cause, the speaker quoted figures of Personal Research Federation to show that from 1910 to 1929 the population increased 35 per cent, production increased 85 per cent, but wages increased only 6 per cent.

"We produce goods at a higher rate than we produce the income to buy those goods," declared the senator.

Reviewing the steps taken, first by Hoover and later by Roosevelt, to meet the conditions of panic, the speaker declared both had failed to touch the cause. The present administration proposals for tax reform, crop control and governmental reorganization will not solve the problem, he said. Taxes can't be reduced when are 11,000,000 to be fed, he said. The declaration of the Republican Glenn Frank for an economy of plenty is no nearer the mark, he said. "They tell you what is needed, but they don't tell you how to get it," he said. "We had so much of everything in 1929 that we almost starved."

"New System Needed"
A new monetary system must be found, he declared. "So long as we allow the 16,000 privately owned banks, having 500 billions more in credit than there is currency, to regulate our monetary system, we can never allow all to participate in the wealth of our country," he added. "A new medium of exchange in conformity to our ability to produce is the answer."

Samuel Hart introduced Senator Rochester to the group, explaining that he had known the senator since the latter's boyhood.

President F. E. Roosevelt, of the association, presided over the meeting. Secretary J. C. Metzger introduced various guests, including Secretary Newman of the National Breakfast club, of Glendale, who is also an organization of home-owned business. Secretary Newman spoke briefly on the growth of that organization, and how it is meeting problems of the home-owned business.

Others introduced included Sheriff Logan Jackson, County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson, Assessor James Sleeper, Auditor W. T. Lambert, Mayor Fred Rowland and Ernest Layton of Santa Ana; City Judge J. G. Mitchell; Secretary Howard J. Wood of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Marie Gotthard, secretary of the Santa Ana Realty Board, and Attorney Arthur E. Koepel.

Sleeper Applauded
Assessor Sleeper, called upon for remarks on the "courtroom phantoms," drew applause when he referred to the harm done the community by "unsupportable and vicious charges" and expressed the hope that the county grand jury would fully report its investigation of such charges.

Referring to accusations against him from Supervisor N. E. West, whom the grand jury recently charged with misconduct in office, Sleeper declared that he "has handled $16,000,000 in public funds since he came into office, and has accounted for every cent of it."

dropped to a few points below freezing.

Colder Tonight
Lloyd said it will be colder tonight in all states east of the Alleghenies but will warm up again Wednesday.

Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio reported zero or sub-zero readings last night. Temperatures were slightly higher in all of the states today. Lloyd said they will continue to rise.

The lowest 24-hour reading was recorded as White River, Ont., where it was 50 degrees below zero. Other temperatures included: Devils Lake, N. D., 18; Fort Myers, Fla., 50; New York, 23; Chicago, 12; Kansas City, 5; Grand Rapids, Mich., 10; Bismarck, N. D., 16.

100 MAROONED BY SNOW STORM
DETROIT, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Rescue parties with snow plows, snow shoes and skis struggled in 40 below zero wind blasts and towering drifts today to reach more than 100 persons isolated in two logging camps and a homestead in the upper peninsula woods.

A high-powered snow plow and two trucks had forced their way three miles since yesterday morning in an attempt to reach 60 lumberjacks stranded at the Victor Makela camp 13 miles west of Big Bay. Seven miles of drifts eight to 12 feet deep lay ahead.

An unknown number of men were marooned at Carey's Camp on the Silver Lake road 11 miles north of Midway. Two miles farther north a family was snow-bound on their homestead.

K. L. Sawyer, road commissioner superintendent at Ishpeming, said temperatures in the area ranged from 10 below along the shore of Lake Superior to 40 below at Gwinn and Republic.

Pajama 'Parade' Results As Toy Catches On Fire

A pajama parade in the rain last night was not a lark to the Arthur Nielsen family of 818 Louise street, but was the result of a Christmas present.

On Christmas Day Donald, young son of the Nielsens, was overjoyed to find a wood-burning set among his presents. Today Donald has no set because he left the electric plug in the set turned on.

Shortly after eleven o'clock last night, the family noticed smoke and hurried to investigate. The set had burned and caught fire to the davenport and carpet. Clad only in pajamas, the Nielsens carried the furniture out in the rain and the fire was out. Damage was estimated at $25.

HEAVY RAINFALL IS RECORDED IN COUNTY

at this time last year.

1.25 For Santa Ana
Santa Ana received a total of 1.25 inches during the storm. The heaviest rainfall was recorded at Olive where two inches fell bringing the seasonal total up to 5.88. Last year at this time Olive had received 9.85 inches.

The rain at San Juan Capistrano reached almost cloudburst proportions, according to reports from that area. Starting shortly after 1 a. m. today the rain continued there until 1.75 inches had fallen at 7 a. m. Indications were that more rain would fall in that area during the day.

FIRST STORM OF SEASON WELCOMED
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Southern California was drenched by the first heavy rainstorm of the season today. Streets were flooded, traffic tied up, landslides endangered lives and low areas were inundated.

A light rain fell in Imperial Valley, endangering truck crops. The storm, starting with a sprinkle shortly after dark last night, increased in volume until after midnight when a downpour set in that registered 2.43 inches by the time the clouds broke just before dawn.

Below Normal Fall
The rain brought the season's total here to date to 7.44 inches, still slightly below expected normal which is 7.89 inches.

The total rainfall at this date last year was 9.98.

The storm was general throughout Southern California, ranging from .02 of an inch at San Diego to 3.37 inches at Santa Barbara.

L. H. Daingerfield, government meteorologist, issued a forecast for unsettled conditions tonight and tomorrow, with more rain tonight, accompanied by seasonable temperatures and moderate to fresh southwest wind, westerly on the coast.

RENT LOWERED FOR ARMY ENGINEERS

Members of the board of supervisors today approved the tentative request of C. E. Spencer, representing the Army engineers, for a reduction of rent for quarters now occupied by the engineers.

Spencer said that the reason for the request is that the engineers had almost completed exploration work on the dam sites for the county's $15,000,000 flood control program and are forced to reduce their staff and expenses until the next fund appropriation is made probably in August.

He said that it might be necessary for the department to cease operations here altogether until the appropriation is made if sufficient economies cannot be effected. The board indicated a willingness to cut the rent as much as 50 per cent.

On motion of Supervisors Harry Riley, Dr. W. L. Bigham of Anaheim was reappointed chairman of the Orange county planning commission.

DR. S. W. WALLACE TAKEN TO COURT

Two counts of petty theft were charged against Dr. S. W. Wallace, Santa Ana dentist of 624 South Broadway, today when he was arraigned before Justice Kenneth Morrison here today.

H. A. Bradley, one complainant, alleged the doctor took $20 worth of dental gold and plating, while John Hunt charges he took $70.50 in labor, to the dentist.

Dr. Wallace was ordered to appear before Judge Morrison Thursday to answer to the arraignment and make plea.

FEAR PRIVATE WAR IN ALASKAN WATERS

tween American and Japanese fishermen and "is more likely to result in war than any other event," Diamond told the house merchant marine and fisheries committee.

"Treaty Useless"
A treaty to end "poaching" in Alaskan waters would "settle precisely nothing," Dimon said as hearings began on his measure to preserve the $40,000,000 annual catch from depletion by unregulated fishing. Other witnesses were prepared to present photographs of Japanese "floating canneries" draped with nets.

"One must be an optimist indeed even to be able to hope that any treaty with the Japanese is worth the paper on which it is written," he declared.

Defends Proposal
He argued in defense of his bill under international law and accused the Japanese of disregarding the regulations by which the United States assures a sufficient run of salmon up the rivers to maintain a continuing supply.

The Dimon bill would permit the President to declare a "salmon fishery enforcement area," anywhere in a wide triangle stretching from the Alaskan mainland and the Aleutian islands to the Russian boundary in the Bering sea, when foreign vessels were found to be catching salmon in disregard of the rigid United States regulations. In such an area, American officers might seize vessels and hold them until reparation is made.

NOT THE REAL THING
NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(UP)—A 25-karat, synthetic emerald-green stone, almost matching the natural emerald, was on exhibition today at the American Museum of Natural History. The imitation, called "Imperial," was created in Germany by a secret formula. It has the hexagonal symmetry and color of the natural emerald.

JUST AN ACCIDENT
CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Detective William Stahl stepped into a tavern Sunday night, was ganged by five men, shot once and stabbed six times below the heart. Police arrested Leonard Wankler, 23, today he admitted the stabbing but said it was accidental.

Engineers Design New Type Engine

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 1.—(UP)—A steam electric locomotive which may revolutionize railroad transportation by having steam generate electricity as a motive power, is being tested by General Electric engineers.

The new type of locomotive is being developed for the Union Pacific railroad for use in the west, probably between Omaha and Los Angeles.

Engineers at the General Electric plant here are proceeding slowly and secretly with construction of the first unit of the two units to be built. As they become more familiar with the principle of the locomotive, work on the second unit is expected to progress faster. Engineers believe it should be able to haul a 1000-ton train.

GLOOMY BUSINESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 1.—(UP)—Mrs. Mary Bauswell was on the verge of closing up shop today. Her business has been dull since long before the recession.

She owns the Kansas City dog and cat undertakers and she said she had performed last rites for only five dogs and one cat since she started operations last summer.

4-DAY MANEUVERS STARTED BY NAVY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—(UP)—The massed strength of the United States navy, under command of Admiral Claude C. Bloch, left Los Angeles harbor today for secret maneuvers off the Southern California coast.

Led by scouting navy planes, more than 100 surface and submarine craft began leaving the harbor at 8:15 a. m. after the planes came mine sweepers and then destroyers.

They were followed by cruisers and submarines and finally by the battleships and aircraft carriers.

The four days of wartime drill will mark the first maneuvers since Admiral Bloch took command Saturday from Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn.

FALLS TO DEATH

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Mrs. June Ogilvie, 32, wife of Burton R. Ogilvie, manager of the exclusive Beverly-Wilshire hotel, fell to her death today from the window of her eighth floor apartment. Ogilvie, who came here two years ago from Honolulu, discovered his wife's body and could not explain how she fell, police said.

"PIRATES" SOUGHT AFTER SHIP ATTACK

By coincidence, 40 warships of the home fleet were en route to the Mediterranean, led by the flagship Nelson, one of the world's largest capital ships. They left Portland on Saturday for Gibraltar on the usual spring cruise.

Duff Cooper told questioners in commons that official information had been received of the Endymion torpedoing, with a loss of 10 lives. The steamer, he said, was reported to have been many miles from the nearest route recommended for shipping under the Nyon agreement which provided for an anti-piracy patrol by the powers. She carried no radio.

No Rebel Submarines

The Spanish embassy issued a statement on the sinking which said:

"The Spanish government categorically denies that the Rebels have any submarines, since all of these craft remained in the power of the legal government at the outbreak of the rebellion. . . .

"Although it must be clear to the whole world that the submarines torpedoing these acts of piracy in the Mediterranean are Italian, we feel bound to express the amazement felt by the Spanish government that foreign intervention in Spain is permitted to the extent of allowing the rebels to receive whole important units of a foreign fleet."

BARCELONA, Feb. 1.—(UP)—three British subjects and a Swedish officer of the Spanish Non-Intervention Committee perished when a submarine sank the little British steamship Endymion 16 miles off the east coast of Spain, the Loyalist government asserted today.

Attacked 16 miles south of Cape Tinos, the 887-ton ship sank within four minutes, it was asserted, and carried 11 of the 15 persons aboard her to death.

Among the missing, it was said, were the steamship's captain, his wife, the second engineer—all British—and a Swedish agent of the Non-Intervention Committee which seeks to keep war munitions from participating governments from Spanish ports.

A defense ministry communique quoted the commander of the Loyalist naval base at Cartagena, on the east coast, as reporting that a Nationalist submarine attacked and torpedoed the Endymion at 7:20 a. m. yesterday 16 miles south of Cape Tinos, which is 19 miles southwest of Cartagena.

TALENT MARKS CONCERT PLANS HERE THURSDAY

When Leon Eckles, well known conductor, lifts the baton to signal the commencement of the federal symphony concert at 8:15 p. m. Thursday at the high school auditorium, the 50-piece orchestra composed of men and women representing the best talent in Orange county, will be prepared to give an impressive program that will carry appeal to the most discriminating tastes in music, officials of the organization declared today.

The concert again brings Edward Burns to the concert stage in a cello performance of the classic "Kol Nidrei." Burns, born and educated in Santa Ana, has been active in music circles here and throughout Southern California.

A pupil of the celebrated and venerable Leo Schulz, Mr. Burns is to play the eminent teacher's own arrangement of the great Hebraic chant. Mr. Schulz, now almost eighty, was himself an intimate associate of no less a master composer than Brahms whose glorious "Symphony No. 1 in C Minor" will be a concert feature.

Dramatic Powers
The concert, as previously announced, is open with the Brahms "First," accounted the greatest in the world's library of symphonic writing.

Simple lyric beauty as well as dramatic power are characteristics of his Symphony in C Minor, and the orchestra, undertaking the majestic work for the first time, is prepared to give it an intelligent reading.

The balance of the program will be made up of the ever popular Der Freischütz Overture (Weber) and Chabrier's "Espana Rhapsody," distinguished for its sprightliness.

"The cooperation of Santa Ana merchants who are sponsoring the performance presages a fine attendance," Eckles stated, "and the advance sale of tickets indicates the public interest that is being shown in the work being done by the orchestra unit."

ORANGE WOMAN ASKS $2000 FEE

Mrs. Anna Feldner, of Orange, filed suit late yesterday in superior court against her husband, Henry J. Feldner, as administrator of the estate of his father, the late Jacob Feldner, of West Orange, asking enforcement of her claim for nursing services, valued at $2000, against the estate.

Mrs. Feldner, whom her husband wed in Germany a few years ago, alleges that she made an oral agreement with her late father-in-law March 10, 1932, by which she was to receive real estate valued at $2000 for nursing him, which she did until his death March 30, 1937.

Step In Controversies
The claim represents another step in the controversies that have developed over the $23,632 purported estate, which some of the heirs claim is not an estate at all. The court has not yet ruled on that point.

A son, William Feldner, first obtained appointment as administrator of the Feldner estate, but later resigned, alleging that the property listed in an inventory was actually joint-tenancy property, belonging to his mother, Mrs. Isaac Feldner, 85, and that there was nothing to pass to the heirs, which included himself. He was then appointed guardian of his mother.

His brother, Henry, disagreed with that viewpoint, and himself filed a petition for appointment as administrator, as did a grandson, Glenn Feldner. William Feldner opposed these petitions, but an understanding subsequently was reached by which Henry was named administrator, the question in dispute to be decided later by the court. Anna Feldner's claim against the estate for nursing services was rejected by the administrator, so she filed suit in court.

COUNCIL RENAMES STEVE DAVIDSON
Re-election of Steve Davidson, business agent for the Meatcutters' union, as president of the Orange County Labor council, featured the regular meeting of the council last night at the Labor Temple.

Other officers elected were: Tex Olney, vice president; J. A. Trendle executive-secretary; Del Barr, treasurer; and William Schaff, sergeant at arms.

Discussion of labor problems and reports of the various unions represented in the council concluded the meeting.

MACHINE FOUND
Another penny weighing machine, broken into by thieves, was found yesterday in front of the Bolsa Chico Gun club headquarters, deputy sheriffs reported. Several of the machines have been found in the county, smashed and burglarized.

Burns to Play

Edward Burns, native of Santa Ana, and famous concert stage performer, will appear here at 8:15 p. m. Thursday when the federal symphony orchestra presents its concert in the high school auditorium. Burns will present his cello performance of the classic "Kol Nidrei."

BEAN GROWERS CROP RELEASE AIMS AT PRICE

Local bean growers are advised to release 10 to 15 per cent of their bean crop to the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation in an effort to secure higher prices for the remainder of their crop.

This was the recommendation of R. L. Churchill and S. Atwood McKeehan, representatives of the California Lima Bean Growers association, who have just completed a trip to Washington and Chicago where they have been in conference for the past several weeks with other representatives and growers.

According to Churchill and McKeehan, the commodities corporation has agreed to pay the following prices for beans: choice cleaned, $2.65 per cwt. on small whites; $2.75 on baby lima, and $4.35 for regular limas.

The meeting at Washington was chiefly devoted to consideration of a long time program for the dry bean industry, and during the next few weeks, meetings of bean growers will be held in the various districts of California to consider tentative plans which were developed during the four days' conference at Washington. Similar meetings will be held in the near future in the other principal bean producing states, which are: Michigan, New York state, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico and Nebraska.

The meeting at Chicago was with representatives of the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, and had particular reference to working out a plan whereby the government would purchase substantial quantities of the various varieties of dry beans which are in above normal supply, for the purpose of relief distribution.

WOMAN IN GABLE CASE TO LEAVE S.A. JAIL FOR CANADA TOMORROW

Violet Wells Norton, Englishwoman housewife, who once claimed Clark Gable, screen star, was the father of her now 16-year-old daughter, spent her last day in the Orange county jail today.

Early tomorrow morning, from jail since, vainly seeking necessary transportation.

Canadian officials will accept Mrs. Norton as a resident, they declared. The federal government cannot deport her to England because she came into the United States from Canada more than a year ago.

Lacks Funds For Voyage
Lacking funds with which to return to England where she wished to go to see about accepting a proposed offer to put her on the stage or in the movies, of even to Canada, voluntarily, Mrs. Norton will accept the transportation offered by the American government, Immigration Officer Franklin Davis said today.

Morris Lavine, her attorney, won a high court reversal of her conviction on a mail-fraud charge involving letters she wrote to Gable, naming him as father of the girl, asking money for support. Upon the reversal, she was free to go, deportation officers announced, but she has been at Orange county jail since.

$1.25 TAKES CARE OF PERSON ONE MONTH IN STRICKEN CHINA

With the call to Americans to provide Red Cross funds for relief of Chinese refugees in war-torn China, and to combat disease there, it was revealed that $1.25 is sufficient to provide food and shelter for a month for one person, Mrs. Laura Warren, executive secretary of the Orange county unit of Red Cross said.

The goal quota for the United States is $1,000,000. According to Mrs. Warren, the Chinese have employed Americans, chiefly, in the Chinese Red Cross agencies which will handle the funds obtained.

Posters Prepared
When funds to take care of persons who were war victims in the Orient were first asked, officials of the Japanese Red Cross reported they had an ample supply of funds to care for their people.

Under direction of Miss Hazel Nell Bemus, two Red Cross posters have been prepared by members of her Santa Ana high school art class. One will be placed in the First National bank where Harry Hanson has charge of accepting funds for the Chinese Red Cross, and the other will be placed in the window of the office of Dr. John Wenzly, chairman of the Santa Ana chapter of the American Red Cross.

Checks offered in payment for aid to the Chinese Red Cross should be made out to the American Red Cross, Mrs. Warren said.

Drivers Cleared In Traffic Death

From evidence submitted, a coroner's jury at the Shannon funeral chapel, Orange, was unable to place blame on anyone in connection with the traffic death January 14, of Mrs. Anna Taylor, 61, Midway City.

Mrs. Taylor was riding with her husband, W. H. Taylor, 74, January 8, at the intersection of Hazard and Cannery roads, when cars driven by Taylor and R. A. Ross, 43, Route 3, Santa Ana, collided. Taylor also was injured and needed hospitalization.

GROUP TO PERFECT FATHERS' FORUM

Twenty-nine Santa Ana fathers interested in the advancement of child welfare, today had formulated plans for the organization of a Fathers Forum. The organization will meet the last Friday in every month and will work in conjunction with the Spurgeon P.T. A.

Chairman of the various committees are: James H. Thomas, leader of activities; W. E. Tipton, school problems; Alfred Knight, safety; Robert H. Andrews, recreation; Ed Newman, music; Jack Snow, juvenile delinquency; Frank Von Hecht, membership. Entertainment for the group was staged by the cub scouts under the direction of Russell Hathaway. Refreshments were served by Mrs.

Following a trial during which Gable denied he had ever been in England, where Mrs. Norton's daughter, Gwendoline, was born, Mrs. Norton was sentenced last May to a year in jail here; the United States circuit court of appeals reversed the conviction. The daughter, sent to a private school here by philanthropic persons, may remain in the school until the term ends, then must join her mother.

Jail officials here describe Mrs. Norton as a "model" prisoner.

"AT AUCTIONS in my warehouse in Farmville, North Carolina," says Mr. Branch Bobbitt, "Lucky Strike buyers know what tobacco they want and they'll keep bidding right up until they get it."

"Well—in a cigarette—it's the tobacco that counts. I know tobacco and I know what tobacco is in what cigarettes. So that's one reason I've smoked Luckies for over five years now."

Many other experts agree with Mr. Bobbitt. Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.

CONVICTS' WORK TO BAR ESCAPES

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Eastern penitentiary, known variously to released prisoners as Cherry Hill and "the Rock Pile," is having its face lifted.

Inmates have been set to work modernizing the old prison to make it virtually escape-proof, according to Warden Herbert Smith. Cherry Hill long has been a source of uneasiness to city and state officials. For many years it has been the scene of escapes, suicides, "sit-down strikes" and various other disorders.

Now, Smith said, the convicts are busy constructing new electric gates, a modern powerhouse, storehouse, recreational facilities, and additional space for overcrowded inmates.

The new gates will replace the old iron-studded wooden ones which have shut behind "society's unfortunate" for more than a century. They will be operated from a single control tower surrounded by bullet-proof glass.

Smith said the "face-lifting operations" were made necessary because of overcrowding conditions.

When William H. Harkness died in China seeking to capture alive a giant panda—something no man had ever accomplished before—his widow took up the quest. She was successful and over a year ago brought back to America a 2-month-old specimen of the rare animal. Not satisfied, she went back to the wild country on the Tibetan-Szechuan border to seek a mate for the first panda. Now she's on her way back with another, pictured above at Hankow, China.

30-YEAR-OLD PICTURE LED MAN TO JAIL

C. J. Stillson, 68, of Anaheim, was in San Diego today, facing charges of attempted grand theft after being trapped by a 30-year-old police picture.

Arrested by Orange county deputy sheriffs, Stillson is charged jointly with Samuel Miller, 37, his nephew, in an alleged conspiracy to sell worthless mining stock to Charles Ross, retired Mexico City hardware dealer.

Miller was arrested last Thursday by Detective Sergeant Ralph Whitney who concealed himself in Ross' office and assertedly overheard the deal being completed. Stillson, Whitney said, "stepped out of the picture" after introducing Miller to Ross and making preliminary negotiations.

At police headquarters, Ross picked Stillson's picture from the old Bertillon files, showing that Stillson was arrested in Peoria, Ill., in 1907, and Portland, Ore., in 1936. In a police showup yesterday, Ross picked Stillson from a large group of men, police said. The two men assertedly offered Ross 23,000 shares of stock in the Stillson Mining and Milling company, for $3,300, although the company has been defunct since 1927, it was reported.

CO-ED REFUSES TO WEAR SHOES

MINNEAPOLIS, (UP)—Ingrid Larsen, a Hawaiian at heart despite her Norwegian name, received a "holok" and she's mighty proud of it, provided it especially since it provides the proper trimmings for her barefoot habit while at home in the Delta Delta Delta sorority at the University of Minnesota.

A "Holok" is the standard dress she became accustomed to when she lived in the Hawaiian islands as a child.

Miss Larsen is 19 and a commercial art student at the university. She was born and spent the first dozen or so years of her life on one of the smaller of the island group. She grew up like other girls on the island and never learned to wear shoes. In fact, she never donned a pair of shoes until she was 12 and her parents moved to Honolulu. She never has learned to like them.

The girls in the sorority house were shocked when Ingrid came down to a formal dinner dressed in the "holok" and without shoes. The "holok" is appropriate enough (even has a train), but the bare feet seemed out of place.

"I don't care what anyone says," Miss Larsen explained, "I'll be nice and wear shoes out of doors while I'm in polite society. But when I get indoors, off they come."

NO KNITTING ON JURIES IN N. Y.

ALBANY, N. Y.—(UP)—Women jurors will not knit in his court, Supreme Court Justice Francis Bergan has warned.

"It would be distracting to other jurors, the witnesses and to the judge," he explained.

He added that "women have as good judgment as men and sometimes better, and therefore should not fear approaching the job of jury service, which has been a sanctuary for men for centuries."

The time has come, Justice Bergan said, for a mandatory woman juror law. However, he suggested that the law exempt "women whose housekeeping and child-rearing duties make it impossible for them to devote the necessary time to jury service."

COLLEGE SENIORS TO PRACTICE TEACHING IN S. A. HIGH SCHOOL

Request of Whittier college for permission to assign some of the Whittier graduating seniors to do practice teaching in Santa Ana high school has been granted, and this week, Miss Maude Williams begins practice teaching in history under the direction of the high school social science teachers, Superintendent Frank Henderson announced today.

"The local schools should be congratulated on this recognition from colleges in this area," said Henderson, who added that Claremont colleges also are assigning some teachers who will shortly begin practice work in Santa Ana high school history department. Santa Barbara State College likewise has made arrangements for similar assignments in the elementary field, he said.

"It is gratifying," said Henderson, "to know that the quality of work offered in our public schools is such as to encourage these contacts with the training institutions."

Hymns Sung At Baptist Event

Mesdames Harry Harlow, Edward Farmer and Harry Pink were hostesses Sunday night at an old-fashioned hymn sing given in the First Baptist church parlor for the married people's class of the church. The affair was held immediately after the regular church services.

Mrs. William Hemmen played the piano accompaniments and Ernest Ashland and Russell Crouse were directors of music.

Included in the program were duets by Mrs. J. P. Williams and Russell Crouse; selections by a male quartet made up of J. J. Vernon, E. W. Ashland, Al Jones and Russell Crouse; and a mixed quartet the members of which were: Mrs. Earl Frevert, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Vernon and K. A. King.

P.-T. A. GROUP IS FETED AT BENEFIT

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Crouse, 2333 Bush street, were hosts last night at a benefit bridge party given for the Hoover school. Parent-Teachers' Association. A dessert course preceded the card play. In contrast Mrs. Flake Smith and Josie Elliott had high scores and Mrs. Evelyn Elliott was low. High scores at auction were won by Miss Isabel Lindsay and Russell Crouse. Miss Doris Schenck had low score.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Crouse were: Mesdames George H. Walker, John J. Vernon, Walter Sorenson, E. H. Irwin and Theron Willis.

OYSTERS AT 4 CENTS DOZEN ROCHEFORT SUR MER, France (UP)—Oysters are being sold at less than 4 cents a dozen here. So plentiful are they this year on the Bay of Biscay coast that fishermen, unable to get good prices from restaurant keepers, are selling them at any price on the streets.

Arrested in Moravia, a Russian was posed for police photographs, but every plate exposed remained blank. Offering to exchange his secret of invisibility for freedom, he was refused.

AMERICA'S NOMADIC FAMILY 'HERE TODAY, GONE TOMORROW'

Arithmetic class in San Diego, reading class in San Juan Capistrano, writing class in Santa Ana—that is the mobile curriculum followed by the four children Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vale, America's star nomad family, who arrived in Santa Ana today.

Arriving in what is thought to be the first trailed house ever made in America, the Vales have been on the highways and byways of America ever since 1929 in a tour that has taken them to every state in the Union except Rhode Island.

Two of the Vale children, Betty Lou, three and one-half, and William Franklin, one and one-half, were born in the trailer, while Dixie Jean, seven, and Richard F., Jr., five, never have known any home but the house on wheels.

Vale, who was formerly a Springfield, Mo., merchant, answered the question of "why" with an expressive gesture and the reply: "We like it. Who wouldn't? It is not, and will never be a publicity stunt, I happened to have a small income and the opportunity to travel and see the country. Mildred, Mrs. Vale, liked the idea so we have been on the go ever since."

"The speedometer shows a registration of more than 117,000 miles," Vale said.

"We have been thinking about the education of our children but we have refused to worry about it. We feel that the children are learning something new every day and we have a black-board and a few books in the trailer that we have been using to give them some formal education."

The trailer is a remarkable combination of luxury and utility. Twenty-seven feet long and seven and a half feet wide, it is equipped with a complete power plant, an electric washer, a sewing machine, radio, gas range, radiant stove, water with a sink and shower, ice box and breakfast table and breakfast set.

"How long will we continue? Until we get tired of it, I guess," Vale said. "We enjoy the life and have no particular reason for stopping so there is no telling how long we will continue."

FAMOUS BALBO OF AIR TURNS ARCHEOLOGIST

TRIPOLI—(UP)—Turning from aviation to archeology, Air Marshal Italo Balbo, governor of Libya, has been devoting his spare time to excavations.

After the work executed under his direction at Leptis Magna and Sabratha, rated by experts and experts alike as the most fascinating ancient excavations in the world, Balbo has now given orders that work be resumed at Toilemaide in Cyrenaica.

Toilemaide, the ancient Ptolemais, is supposed to have been built by Alexander the Great. It was one of the most important ports of the Mediterranean up to the end of the 4th century. It was later destroyed by Cosroe, King of Persia, around the year 562 A. D.

When the Italians occupied Cyrenaica following the victorious Italo-Turkish war of 1912, the ruins of Toilemaide were buried under tons of desert sands. Excavations were started immediately but interrupted by the outbreak of the World War. They were later resumed and gave unexpected results.

The remains of a magnificent amphitheater were unearthed together with a series of Greek stone coffins of the first century. Remains of Roman and Greek villas soon came to light. Marble and mosaic pavements were found almost intact under the sand dunes.

Balbo has now given new impetus to the work which has been placed under the direct supervision of Guido Caputo, outstanding Italian explorer and archeologist.

A huge primitive cistern with a capacity of 20,000 cubic meters of water has been unearthed. Seven magnificent bas-reliefs representing a chorus of Bacchantes worshipping the Greek god of wine also shipping the Greek god of wine also dition.

Another bas-relief shows an exquisitely designed nymph dancing in honor of Dionysius, giver of grapes and wine. This nymph is stated to be surprisingly similar to the Maenad which is presently preserved in the Metropolitan Museum of New York.

There Are Two Sides To This Styvie Story

BY ART KRENZ
(NEA Service Golf Writer)

To golfers who play only for medal scores, the styvie means little, but among those who compete at match play it is causing more debate than the 14-club rule and the change in weight and size of the ball in 1931.

After considerable research, the United States Golf Association has passed this temporary styvie rule: "When balls lie within six inches of each other on the green, or when the nearer ball lies within six inches of the hole—the distance in both cases to be measured from the nearest point—the ball lying nearer the hole may, at the option of either player, be lifted until the other ball is played. The lifted ball shall be replaced as near as possible to the place where it lay.

"If either ball be accidentally moved in complying with the rule, no penalty shall be incurred. The ball so moved shall be replaced." Amateurs and professionals will be affected by this rule, since their annual tournaments are at match play.

They are divided in their opinions.

Denny Shute is heartily in favor of the new rule, but suggests that the ball be lifted when a foot from the cup. Bobby Jones favors the new rule. Johnny Goodman believes the new rule best for golf, but favors the old. Jess Sweetser, Ellis Knowles, and George Jacobus are for the new rule.

Francis Oulmet votes for complete abolition of the styvie. He therefore is against the new rule.

Johnny Fischer liked the old rule. It helped him repel Jock McLean of England in the match that decided the national amateur championship of 1936.

Styvie Conflicts With Basic Principle of Golf

Those opposed to the styvie argue that since the player first, and then the hole, is the ball, a misad put causing a styvie deprives the player's opponent of the same shot to the hole, and penalizes the player who had the better shot to the green.

When the balls lie so close to each other that one interferes with the execution of the stroke anywhere else on the course, the ball nearer the hole must be lifted.

The styvie conflicts with the basic principle of the game—that a player is entitled to hole his ball in the fewest number of strokes, free from interference on the part of an opponent.

In no instance other than a styvie can a player, his club, or ball interfere with an opponent's stroke.

Negotiating a styvie requires skill, however. If this shot is practiced as are others, the better player should profit.

Eliminating the styvie would increase the already over-practiced habit of lifting the ball regardless of whether a styvie has been lifted. Lifting the ball already is unpop-

NEW ATHLETIC STARS ENROLL AT JR. COLLEGE

The University of Minnesota lost a 202-pound fullback and a crack-back basketball player to Santa Ana Junior college today. The Dons also made a nice haul of Orange county high school athletes.

The story is that Art Hienish, Chaska, Minn. prep star, was all set to enroll at Minnesota until he received a night letter from the Dons' "Sky high" Leivermann, six-foot-six freshman football and basketball luminary, and headed here to join Leivermann.

Leivermann and Hienish played basketball together on the Chaska high school team in a non-conference game.

Enrolling at Jaycee today was a four-sport star in Nolan Beat, Anaheim high's all-Southern California end in 1936. Beat will be eligible for basketball, track and baseball. While at Anaheim Beat starred in football, basketball, track and baseball and was an "A" student.

Beat entered the United States Naval academy this fall, but resigned after deciding he didn't relish the life on the sea. A husky boy of 175 pounds, Beat will be a genuine diamond in the rough for Coach Bill Cook to work on next fall.

Leighton Ross Transfers

Other prospective freshmen stars enrolling at the mid-term were Leighton Ross, a 185-pound center from Fullerton Junior college. Ross formerly played tackle at Anaheim high school.

Vernon Carney, Santa Ana High school tackle, was another incoming freshman.

Several track stars—notably Herschel Whitney, captain and crack miler; Jim Johnson, sprinter and Harry Adams, quarter-mile runner—were also enrolling.

Among the missing but expected mid-term transfers were Grover Miller, Orange High's discus thrower and Wilbur Miller, Jefferson High's state 440 champion.

In announcing his retirement, Braddock used almost the same words I had used a week earlier in suggesting that he was foolish to fight Farr, as lousy a fighter as the Welshman was.

All of a sudden I saw red. Not "Red" Grange, because he is miles away, but just plain red. It made me sore to think that I had been second-guessed when I was right all along. I told my readers Braddock should quit. They poured acid on my head and said I was a dope and a Zanie.

He quits for just the reason that I advanced. Donald Duck never was madder than I was right then. There on the banks of the Rio Grande. My hat flew off. My ears flapped. I jumped up and down.

Then I called for a typewriter. The maitre d'hotel said they were just out of typewriters. I said get me one, anyhow. He did. I wrote.

Here it is.

PLACENTA—Lloyd Bishop, former Fullerton jaycee and Whittier college athlete, apparently has the inside track in the race to succeed his brother, Clarence, who will transfer his coaching activities to Santa Barbara Monday.

At Santa Barbara the former Pomona college four-sport athlete will probably coach baseball, although there is a possibility that Clarence Shutte, head of the physical education department, may turn the track team over to Bishop.

Next year Bishop probably will coach varsity basketball at Santa Barbara and also handle sophomore football.

Brubaker Battles Erjavec in Oakland

OAKLAND — (UP)—Phil Brubaker, Dinuba heavyweight, today rated 10-8 favorite to defeat Johnny Erjavec in his 10 round bout at Oakland auditorium tomorrow night.

Brubaker, staging a comeback, has boosted his stock with fans on the strength of three consecutive knockouts in recent fights. His victims were "Moose" Erwin, Ted Johnson and Frankie Sinims.

SPORTS WHIRLIGIG

Coach Al Reboin of Huntington Beach, the ex-Saint and Trojan star, is learning how to fold diapers, the three-in-one way. This knowledge will be in good stead in about four months.

When Mac Beall and Dick Tauber arrived with Coach Ted Bank at the University of Idaho, the two Don footballers found four inches of snow on the campus, according to a letter received by Mac's mother today. On the way to Moscow, the travelers encountered everything in the way of weather—snow, rain, sleet, fog and frozen roads.

Beall and Tauber are quartered at a fraternity house. Mac has a job as lifeguard in the university plunge.

One of "Tex" Oliver's most ardent boosters for the University of Oregon coaching staff was Johnny McCarty, sportscaster on Radio KORE at Eugene. McCarty was manager of Oliver's famed 1931 Santa Ana high school squad, Southern California prep champions, which sent into big-time football such boys as All-American Larry Lutz, Floyd Blower, Miles Norton, "Tex" Harris, "Red" Kider, Sammy Tucker and Clair Preininger.

Sportscaster McCarty, an Oregon graduate, plumped for Oliver throughout the campus campaign and probably did as much to win over the athletic board as anyone.

A card from Business Manager John Wilcox of Santa Ana's Stars says to tell all the night baseball fellows that he'll be on the sidelines this season. "I am improving slowly," writes Wilcox, "but it surely takes a long time to grow back a couple of ribs."

Johnny will be confined four or five months more in the Veterans' hospital at Sawtelle.

Santa Ana and Long Beach high schools have closed for a football game in Santa Ana September 30. This brings together again two old Coast league rivals that were separated when the Saints moved into the Citrus Bell game. Santa Ana played the Jackrabbits twice last fall, beating them the second time in the season's biggest prep upset.

Sponsored by Pinky (Object of My Affections) Tomlin, our man Tex Harris, one-time Saint, Don and Bruin end, is going into a Los Angeles hotel soon as leader of a twelve-piece dance band. Harris explains that his outfit will go in mostly for "specialty numbers" with Tex waving the baton and occasionally crooning. Now you tell one.

CHRISTY WALSH JR. AWARDED TO MOTHER

LOS ANGELES—(UP)—Walter Christy Walsh's sacrifice of his son became legally binding today as the sports syndicate head's divorced wife was appointed guardian of the person and estate of 12-year-old Walter Jr., whom a judge once termed a "cream puff."

Walsh after nearly three years bickering with Mrs. Madeline Souden Walsh, gave up all claim to the boy two weeks ago. He had Walter Jr., for two days, found the boy bored at the Rose Bowl game, which he attended with Lou Gehrig and became convinced the son was happier with his mother.

NEW YORK — (UP)—Former heavyweight champion James Braddock, who announced his retirement from the ring Sunday, will apply to the state athletic commission for a second's license today.

If the license is granted, Braddock will be in the corner of Bob Tow, young Washington, D. C. heavyweight, when he fights "Red" Burman at the Hippodrome tomorrow night.

Braddock has joined his long-time manager and friend Joe Gould, in the management of other fighters, and Tow is one of the more promising.

Braddock and Gould also plan to open a restaurant which will be called "In-n Braddock's Corner." Gould said Braddock was well fixed financially. He operates a Jersey trucking business that has been showing a profit of $150 a week.

TROJAN COACH TO RESIGN IF SEASON POOR?

LOS ANGELES—(UP)—The Los Angeles Evening News said today that Howard Jones will remain head football coach at the University of Southern California for 1938 but probably will resign at the end of the season.

Gene Coughlin, sports editor, wrote: "Although the official announcement will not be made for some days, Howard Jones will be back on the job... next fall. The contract will call for one year's service, with a possibility of extension if the Trojan football fortunes improve."

VAUGHAN JOINS BUC HOLDOUTS

FULLERTON — Floyd (Arky) Vaughan, Pittsburgh Pirate shortstop, has joined the holdout ranks. Disfranchised, the Potter Valley, Cal. gentleman farmer, fired back his 1938 contract.

Vaughan led the National league hitting in 1935 with a .385 average. Following that season he signed a two-year contract with the Pirates that called for $15,000 per season. It was said.

William E. Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh team, hopes to iron out the contract difficulties with Vaughan at Los Angeles March 10, before the regulars start spring training at San Bernardino.

Vaughan, it was intimated, is on the verge of quitting baseball to devote his entire time to his 40-acre sheep ranch, unless the Pirates meet his terms.

The former Fullerton athlete is now living in a virtual sportsman's paradise in Lake county. A trout stream runs through his back yard. According to his brother, Glenn, who is in charge of the ranch "Arky" will drop anything when someone sights a fish.

'DRAGON' AND DUDE WRESTLE THURSDAY

Culminating weeks of build-up for what could prove the biggest upset in local wrestling, the "Black Dragon," undefeated unknown, and Dude Chick, the Wyoming cowboy, holder of the world junior heavyweight championship, clash for the title Thursday night at the Orange County Athletic club.

While hundreds of fans who have been attending weekly wrestling programs here hoping to see the "Dragon" defeated and unmasked, sincerely expect this, something else might happen. The "Dragon" might become the world champion.

Should such a thing transpire, the unknown will become the most disliked wrestler who ever won a title.

Officials of the O.C.A.C. report that the advance seat sale indicates that a capacity crowd will be on hand. Strongly supported with the appearance of Yukon Jake and Felipe Romano, Mexican champion, there is every reason to believe the season's largest crowd will sit in on the title match.

Yukon Jake meets Al Westcott while Romano tangles with the Arkansas hill-billy, Tarzan Bob Montgomery. The opener shows Ernie Piluso vs. Frankie Hill.

Right To Love

THE right of pretty Mary Grubbs, top, 18-year-old senior, to date Coach Hugh Wynn, below, whom she plans to marry after graduation, precipitated a strike in Dothan, Alabama's high school and threats to bomb the building. The football coach resigned on request, but after students struck he announced he would fight for reinstatement.

He has coached the grid game nearly half of his 38 years. And the Pacific Coast is not new territory. For four years he was stationed at San Diego high school and then put in seven more at Santa Ana high school, sending many a prep star to coast schools.

At Santa Ana, from 1930 to 1932, Oliver's high school charges won 27 straight games. This reputation landed him at the University of Arizona where in five years his football teams won 32 games, lost 11 and tied four.

During the 1937 season, the Wildcats won eight games and lost two. Notable victories were over Kansas, 9 to 7, and Oregon, 20 to 6. It was the beating his team gave Oregon that brought him attention at Eugene.

Following his West Point days, Oliver attended summer sessions at Stanford and University of Southern California, where he earned his B.A. degree in 1930. He

GRAYSON SAYS SUCCESS DUE TO HARD WORK

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP)—Gerald A. (Tex) Oliver, last year's football coach of the University of Arizona, has signed a three-year contract to Coach at the University of Oregon, it was announced here today by Anson Cornell, graduate manager at Oregon.

Oliver succeeds Gary Prince Callison, resigned.

Terms of Oliver's contract were not announced but it was understood he was to receive $6000 yearly.

A Phi Beta Kappa scholar, with a West Point background, assumes the duties of football coach at the University of Oregon next fall.

And the results should be very interesting when Gerald A. (Tex) Oliver starts moving in Pacific Coast conference circles.

Oliver played his first big-time football at West Point after the World War, under "Cap" McEwan. He gained entrance to West Point via the examination route after many months with the doughboys in Europe.

He has coached the grid game nearly half of his 38 years. And the Pacific Coast is not new territory. For four years he was stationed at San Diego high school and then put in seven more at Santa Ana high school, sending many a prep star to coast schools.

Seabiscuit, America's leading money winner of 1937, is just as "solid" a horse for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap today as he was before Pompoon displaced him as favorite for the March 5 classic. The C. S. Howard champion, which had been working by moonlight, changed his routine yesterday and breezed six furlongs in 1:12.

BRUBAKER BATTLES ERJAVEC IN OAKLAND

OAKLAND — (UP)—Phil Brubaker, Dinuba heavyweight, today rated 10-8 favorite to defeat Johnny Erjavec in his 10 round bout at Oakland auditorium tomorrow night.

Brubaker, staging a comeback, has boosted his stock with fans on the strength of three consecutive knockouts in recent fights. His victims were "Moose" Erwin, Ted Johnson and Frankie Sinims.

The nominations include Sir Raleigh, Tiger, Sun Eret, Con Wait, Legal Light, Specify, Rolling Ball, Sortie's Son, Lassator, Short Noddy, Stagehand, Indian Lodge, Gipsy Minstrel, Shaman, King's Heir, Rommy, Liberty Scout, Liberty Flight, Gallator, Minulus, Stimuli, Alaskan, Rainbearer, Roy T., High Strike, Rocco, Basque and Midwick.

Sir Raleigh turned in an impressive prep for the race when he stepped a mile in 1:40, handily, yesterday morning. Specify also recorded a smart move, going three-quarters in 1:13 3-5 and was up for seven-eighths in 1:27.

T. P. Morgan's Heelfly, which has gone wrong in his training for the big race, will be sent to Imperial Beach, near the Mexican border, and rested up, it was reported today. His left front ankle probably will be pin fired and he will be given several months to recover, taking the sand and sea cure in the meantime.

HALT THAT RECEDING HAIRLINE WITH X-ER-VAC

The Scientific Treatment for Baldness and Falling Hair

A receding hair line is definite indication of approaching baldness. Stop it immediately... Use X-ER-VAC, the therapeutic method that halts falling hair and promotes regrowth of hair.

The X-ER-VAC, developed by Dr. Andre A. Cueto, of Cincinnati, applies the principle of pressure-and-vacuum, so successfully used in treating vascular diseases, to the revitalizing of the inactive hair cells. The effectiveness of this scientific method for hair regrowth has been convincingly proved, both in Dr. Cueto's clinic—where some 500 individuals have been treated—and in X-ER-VAC shops all over the country.

If falling hair makes baldness eventually certain for you, begin X-ER-VAC treatments at once. We are licensed to give authorized X-ER-VAC treatments under the methods developed by Dr. Cueto.

TRADE TALK IN RAGAN AT BASEBALL MEET

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK — The old baseball skin-game of trying to trade "nothing for something" was resumed today among National League magnates and managers assembled here for their annual schedule meeting.

Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh appeared most anxious to make deals before the teams head south for spring training. Burleigh Grimes, Dodgers' manager, and Jimmy Wilson, Phillies' pilot, held a long conference yesterday.

Bill McKechnie, Reds' manager, is trying to swing a deal but hasn't yet got down to the serious talking stage. The Reds would like another outfielder and there also are indications that they are after Catcher Gus Mancuso of the Giants.

Giants Have Holdout Problem
Bill "Terrible" Terry has indicated that he'll part with either Mancuso or Harry Danning if he can get another catcher and an additional player in return. The Giants have a tough holdout problem on their hands with Mancuso, Dick Bartell and Joe Moore. They have released some of Terry's magazine article remarks in which he said he split radio and endorsement money with them.

The Reds apparently are trying to use Paul Derringer and Ernie Lombardi as trading material. Derringer is another holdout. The rumor that Derringer will go to the Chicago Cubs for Shortstop Bill Jurges seems groundless since McKechnie considers Shortstop Billy Myers the outstanding man in the Reds' infield.

Warren Giles, Reds' business manager, announced today that he had released George Watkins, former Cardinal outfielder who played last season with the Houston Texas league club, from a promise to be one of the Cincinnati coaches this season.

Jurges Admired
The case of Jurges has taken a queer turn. Last October the Cubs avowedly planned to get rid of their turbulent shortstop. February finds him one of the toughest holdouts.

"I'm a better shortstop than Bartell of the Giants and he refuses to accept $17,500," Jurges said. "I intend to get a good raise in my pay."

Pitcher Monte Pearson has signed his contract with the Yankees after a 3-day holdout. He accepted the original terms, to which was added a bonus clause for a good year.

Outfielder Joe DiMaggio, who received "the player of the year" award of the baseball writers Sunday night, plans to return to San Francisco this week without signing his contract with the Yanks.

Racing Harms Only Player—Not Baseball

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

NEW YORK — There wasn't anything to that recent yarn out of Chicago to the effect that baseball intended to attempt to do something about racing.

Attendance proves that the races harm only the baseball players who play them—not baseball. For this reason, some or all of the noble athletes may be told to refrain from visiting tracks and seeing the telephoning bookmakers during the season.

A salesman cannot sell, a clerk cannot clerk, and a sports writer cannot write to the full extent of his efficiency when he is concerned each day with betting on bangtails. As an old horse player, I speak from experience.

So how can a ball player give his best efforts under these circumstances? His mind isn't on his business.

TRAGIC EXAMPLE
You know what betting on horses did to Rogers Hornsby. It left him broke and out of a job after earning tremendous salaries for years. The Rajah even is credited with many of those whose company he chose—the bookies. Indeed, I hear that he has since turned bookie himself—in Chicago. That is the route of many of the more confirmed addicts — after they find themselves flat. And all horse players must die broke.

A number of years ago, Babe Ruth was nipped off first base.

Don't Attempt Impossible Splits, Advice Of Falcaro

Last of 10 instructive articles on bowling.)

By JOE FALCARO
Match Game Champion
Don't attempt impossible splits and sacrifice pins as the result. One pin has won many games.

Keep your hands dry. Perspiring hands cause the ball to slip on delivery.

Never allow anyone else to use your ball. Not only is another person likely to leave the finger holes moist, but often, in five-team matches, he may be using it just when you want it.

If you are without bowling shoes, wear street shoes with leather soles and rubber heels.

Don't be an alley wrecker. Instead of placing the ball on the alley, many bowlers throw it in the air. It comes down heavily on the slides five or 10 feet from the line. This is one of the most grievous errors in bowling. It not only is injurious to the alley, but it spoils the bowler's hook.

The impact of the ball on the boards causes it to lose much of the spin so valuable to hook ball rollers, and this is the reason why possibilities if he works.

BRITISH THINK WOODERSON TO SMASH MARK

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—Say what you will about the possibilities of a four-minute mile, but Brutus Hamilton, California track coach, only sits back and chants: "Don't care how close they come. It can't be done."

Hamilton's outburst is prompted by Albert Hill's claim that not only is the four-minute mile possible, but that it is within reach of Sidney Wooderson, the slightly built, bespectacled English law clerk who set a world mark of 4:06.6 last August.

"Wooderson might accomplish the trick on your fast Princeton track," insists Hill, British Olympic star of 1920, who trains the record holder. "You must realize that our dead English cinders are fully four seconds slower than your American layouts. Thus, I should be permitted to say that Sidney's 4:06.6 of last summer easily is equivalent to 4:02 on any of your lightning-fast tracks."

"Nor is the damp English climate conducive to record performances. Give Wooderson a calm day, moderately warm weather, keen competition, and a fast track and you'll see some real running."

Hamilton, who is both a scientific and practical expert on long-distance running, continues to shake his head in a very negative manner.

"I've made quite a study of the human body's capacity to combat lactic acid poisoning, the toxic cause of fatigue. And my fatigue graph shows that 4:01.6 is the absolute limit of human performance for the mile run. This is close to four flat, I'll admit, but it just can't be reduced further. After all, these must be a limit of human endurance, and we are approaching that deadline."

TECHNICAL ASPECT
"Glycogen, stored in the fibers, is the fuel which drives our muscles. When a nerve impulse reaches the muscle the glycogen undergoes a reaction heat is liberated, and the waste product is lactic acid."

"When a muscle becomes saturated with lactic acid it stops. Oxygen, supplied by breathing, burns up some of this waste and replenishes the glycogen. Eventually, however, the lactic acid gets the upper hand."

"It's the runner's task to postpone this as long as possible, and that's why he learns to control his breathing, and works for nerve stability to insure a slow, even heart beat."

But the British claim athletic science is still in its infancy. Improved methods of training and following pace, rather than physiological progress, will bring the mile down to four minutes, they contend.

BLISTERING PACE
That means traveling at a 15-mile-an-hour clip; averaging 440 yards a minute; or covering 22 feet every second. Therefore, the six and six-tenths seconds that separates Wooderson from the four-minute mile is the equivalent of only 48 yards.

Somewhere along the mile route, Wooderson, Archie San Roman, Glenn Cunningham, or any of the great milers whose marks hover around 4:07, would have to pick up 48 extra yards.

The fastest first quarter ever turned in by a miler was 58 seconds by Norman Tabor, Jack Lovelock's 62.2 is tops for the second quarter. Cunningham turned in the fastest third quarter with 61.8. San Roman's 56.8 is the fastest final quarter.

That composite mile would read 3:58. If Sidney Wooderson could maintain that blistering pace he would have two seconds to spare.

But Brutus Hamilton snorts and says it can't be done.

It was from this point on that Douglas stole the show. It was there that Paul was to introduce Miss Kilgallen, who was then to interview Mr. Kostelanez. In trying to get more slack in the microphone cord, Paul caught his foot and almost stumbled. While the interview was taking place, it was necessary for Paul to hold the script in his left hand in order to be able to know when he should shove the microphone from one person to the other, watch the stop-watch to see whether the show was going on "run-over," and hold the microphone as close as possible to the two people involved in the interview.

When the show was switched to Washington, D. C., it gave those in the plane a few minutes to send the pilot up higher (4000 feet) and make some hasty cuts in the script in order to finish in the allotted time.

Two days of engineering preparation on the hour and 15 minutes in the air—net result: 15 minutes honoring a gentleman—Andre Kostelanez.

Galleries Miss Chip Shots
Played to Avoid Styxie
Retaining the styxie offsets instances in which a ball stops on the lip of the cup, giving an opponent the advantage of a carom into the hole.

Observation shows that in tournaments in which the styxie was eliminated the gallery missed the excitement of watching a chip shot so played as to avoid a styxie.

The old styxie rule read: "A player is laid a styxie if on the green the opponent's ball is in the line of his putt to the hole, provided the balls be not within six inches of each other."

It permitted lifting only when the balls were closer together than six inches.

This rule was formulated when the feather ball was in use, existed through the period of the gutta percha, and up to the present time.

The early balls were less lively and consequently easier controlled than the ball now in use.

After many years of bitter attack on the old rule, representatives of numerous clubs were requested to try modifications.

There still seems to be two sides to the story.

Howser Canfield's LOOK

By NICK R. BOCKER

NEW YORK—RADIOLOGIC HAS given you "backstage" stories of radio programs emanating from Hollywood, your dog-eared correspondent has attempted in a feeble way to qualify as a swing-music-critic from Carnegie Hall in New York City—but this is the first time, east or west, that a "backstage" story of a broadcast from a plane flying over New York City has been sent to readers up and down the coast of sunny California!

Your New York correspondent had the pleasure of being the only radio columnist aboard the Eastern Airlines plane while a broadcast was being conducted awarding the trophy for the "most air-minded traveler" to a man who, both your Hollywood editor and New York reporter agree, is probably the finest semi-classical orchestra leader and certainly one of the most charming persons that go to make up today's Radio world—Andre Kostelanez.

On the surface, this broadcast gave the listener the impression (like so many other radio programs) that Radio is just something "dreamed up" from a fertile imagination. Few realize the hours of preparation before the program comes from your loudspeaker.

For two days prior to the broadcast, the cliff-dwellers of New York City were watching a giant silver plane circling lazily around Manhattan. Inside that plane, in addition to the regular crew, were engineers from the Columbia Broadcasting System with their portable short-wave transmitter testing and checking where and how the broadcast was to be made. And, in case you might be interested, the weather has not been too lovely in New York recently. Just another problem for the engineers to work around.

The day of the broadcast dawned bright and clear with the thermometer hovering around the fifteen-degree mark. We whisked out to the Newark airport to find everything in readiness and the plane set to take off at 1:30 p. m. (EST).

In the plane were Kostelanez; Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, who presented Kiddy with the cup; Dorothy Kilgallen, who, as you know, has done a little traveling by air herself; Jack Knight, who many years ago was responsible for the trail blazing for your present air-mail service; Paul Douglas, a production man from CBS; Kostelanez's favorite page-boy bedecked in his uniform; representatives of the various airlines, and, bundled up to the eyebrows, your humble reporter.

Flying over New York for the first time with such famous personalities as companions was a thrill this lad will not soon forget. The only unpleasant incident was that at 2000 feet the air was most decidedly bumpy—something the engineers hadn't figured on.

As soon as we arrived over Manhattan, contact was made by short radio, and after his little spiel and where the signals were to be transmitted into long-wave and sent all over the country by telephone wire to your nearest radio station and then broadcast to your loudspeaker. Did someone make mention of this being the "Age of Miracles"?

Can you imagine this reporter's thrill, flying above New York City with a set of earphones clamped on his head hearing the California stations announcing that all was clear and ready for the broadcast?

Suddenly Paul Douglas was talking. We were On The Air! So simple to write—so complex in what actually was taking place!

Douglas was using a hand-microphone, and after his little spiel and where the signals were to be transmitted into long-wave and sent all over the country by telephone wire to your nearest radio station and then broadcast to your loudspeaker. Did someone make mention of this being the "Age of Miracles"?

He Got Cold Feet in the Test

Future comfort of the human race hung on the opportunity that science gave the man, seated, center above, but he got cold feet. Purpose of the whole affair was to determine what constitutes a draft and how people react to them. A stream of cold air was directed at the feet of the man with his legs in the "ankle boxes." While the man at the left took electrical readings of the skin temperature, the fellow with the cold feet recorded his comfort reactions on the chart he holds. The tests were performed in a Pittsburgh laboratory.

ADULT EDUCATION NEWS

Second semester greetings to teachers and students with a special welcome to those who are with us this week for the first time.

Now is the time to enroll in advanced shorthand. The class is beginning to specialize in legal dictation and other technical dictation. Special training is given in speed and vocabulary.

He will demonstrate low arrangements and floating bouquets. You are invited to bring an arrangement with you.

Note an omission in the schedule of classes. The public speaking class meets tomorrow evening in the Lathrop school under the direction of Max Barnhill. Several students from drama have come in to this class. Arrangements will be made to incorporate their interests into the public speaking class.

The lecture series on national and international affairs begins again tonight. Floyd Harrison has the first lecture on "The Junior Red Cross." February 7, Mr. Mather of Chaffey Junior College will speak on "Church and State in World Affairs." On February 14 we again have Mr. Mather on "Good will Incorporated." Mr. Bradley plans to complete the course in everyday legal problems before Spring vacation, which comes this year early in April. If you know anyone who wants to share in this work the time is getting short.

Increased activity in the sewing classes shows that Eastern is growing near.

Cadman's "Service" and "Courage," Bartholomew's old sea chanty, "Hoodah Day," and "All Day on the Prairie," a cowboy song written by the Texas composer, Gouin, will be sung by the men's section, followed by the sopranos and altos singing a spring song, "The Call" by Andrews.

"The Prayer of Thanksgiving" will sound the opening notes of the program. This is a very old Netherlands folk tune written in 1626 by Valerius and adapted by Krenser, "High Water," a Negro spiritual, will be performed by the combined voices. The concert concludes with Leslie's "Lullaby of Life."

Mrs. Mae Renfer will play the accompaniment.

SAFE DRIVER REWARD PLAN

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

EVERY 1000 POUNDS OF SEA WATER CARRIES ABOUT TWENTY-SEVEN POUNDS OF COMMON SALT, (IN SOLUTION.)

It takes approximately 24 hours for a new day to dawn completely around the earth. Another 24 hours are required for the completion of that day at the last time zone. At the very moment the day dies there, the third day dawns in the first zone. Therefore, the end of Feb. 1 and the beginning of Feb. 3 coincide.

Jimmie
Fidler
in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 1 — "38— Making the rounds of the studios, I am impressed by the growing importance of Hollywood's second generation. Some of them have important positions in "production;" some are making their marks as scenarists; some are on their way to the top as actors and actresses. And one thing that they all seem to have in common—the one thing that their elders lacked—is the realization that picture making is a serious business, a permanent career.

You do not see these youngsters flashing down the boulevard in black-long cars, and you do not see them squandering their money in Hollywood's night clubs. I have yet to hear of one of them being involved in a scandal or to hear of them being accused of being a drunkard. The mistakes that pa and ma made, back in the glamorous yesterday when Hollywood was a three-ring circus, they are avoiding with care that is really amazing when you consider the fact that most of them are still in their "giddy" twenties.

When I think of the horror with which the old-fashioned parents regarded the influence of "show people," I have to indulge in a sarcastic "Oh yeah." These Hollywood youngsters are the sanest, most matured "second generation" on earth.

For the past several months friends of mine who live in one of the most secluded canyons of the Hollywood Hills have been telling me about a "handsome hermit" who lives nearby. As a rule Hollywood hill dwellers are neighborly folks—probably because it is much more convenient to borrow an occasional pound of sugar than it is to drive a long mile to a grocery store. But this new arrival is an exception to the rule. He borrows no sugar, gives no parties—and actually seems to dodge every one would be acquaintance. No one in the neighborhood, I am informed, knows his identity—and that puts me one up on the neighborhood. Today, driving by, I saw him and recognized George Sanders, Twentieth Century-Fox's newest star. Garbo should look to her laurels.

This is hardly the proper season of the year for "sob" stories, but today Producer Sol Lesser received one of the most touching letters I have ever read. It was from a physician in a little Nevada town. He had just seen Bobby Breen in "Make a Wish," and wanted to know how much would it cost him to buy a print of that picture. He explained that he does not wish to show the picture publicly, but that he only wants it "because Bobby Breen looks so much like my own little boy who died a few months ago." Sol Lesser is more noted for business ability than for sentiment, but he could not resist the sincerity of that request. When "Make a Wish" is withdrawn from circulation, one of the old prints will be sent to that doctor, free of charge.

An amusing anecdote about Hollywood's "perfect couple." It

BANDIT GETS $70 IN DOWNTOWN CAFEHANDS NOTE TO BARTENDER AND AIMS REVOLVER

Nonchalantly sipping beer at the Three-O-Two cocktail bar, Third and Main streets, for more than 30 minutes last night, less than a stone's throw from police headquarters, a bold bandit suddenly handed a note to Bartender B. R. Turner, thrust a .38 automatic pistol towards him and stole $70.

A note printed in ink in capital letters on a scrap of paper read: "This is a holdup. Don't say a word and you shall be unharmed. Put the money in this bag. I mean it."

Keeps Turner Covered
Witnesses to the robbery included Douglas White, partner in the business; Harry Barnett, 628 Garnett street; Mrs. Turner, wife of B. R. Turner, and Turner. The bandit, dark complexioned and tall, kept Turner covered with the weapon while Turner put the $70 in the bag and handed it over.

Grabbing the money, the bandit dashed from the front of the cocktail bar, turned south and then west, running along the north side of Third street, to Sycamore, where he jumped into an automobile and drove rapidly away.

Leaves Fingerprints
White followed the man, on foot, and said he believed the bandit car was a greyish or brown, 1937 Plymouth sedan. The bandit drove west to Broadway, then north on Broadway as he made good his escape. Whether an accomplice waited in the car could not be determined.

Fingerprints left on the beer glass used and the beer bottle may prove the bandit's undoing. Capt. R. S. Elliott and Detective Lieutenant Charles Wolford took the fingerprints of Turner who had handled the glass and of Charlie Martin, local man who appeared at the place following the holdup, and touched the glass. A third set of fingerprints also was found on the glass.

Reports Holdup
The bar is located just south of the West Coast theater. The only other recent holdup staged here, occurred just north of the same theater several weeks ago when J. C. Penney company employees who were placing more than $3,000 in the First National bank night depository were held up by two bandits who took the money.

Eddie Sugden, manager of the theater, rushed from the theater, after he was notified, to police headquarters and reported the holdup. Three radio patrol cars hunted through the city but no trace of the bandit could be found. The holdup occurred at 12:20 a. m.

Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson, comprising the famous Bartlett-Robertson Piano duo, today announced the program in store Friday night in the high school auditorium for patrons of the Behmer-Wilson Artist series.

The program will open with Handel and two Bach numbers forming the first group. For the Handel composition the artists have chosen "Arrival of the Queen of Sheba" from "Solomon," arranged by Brian Easdale for two pianos. The Bach aria, "Sheep May Safely Graze" (arranged by Mary Howe) and three movements. Allegro Moderato, Adagio, of the Sonata in E flat major, will complete the group.

"Poisoned Fountain"
Saint-Saens' "Variations of a Theme of Beethoven" will be played, and the artists will offer compositions written especially for them and dedicated to them. These are "Noel" by Balfour Gardiner; "Polka," Lennox Berkeley; "The Poisoned Fountain" and "Hardanger" by Arnold Bax.

In their final group, the artists will include "Scherzo" from the Phillip arrangement of Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Andalusian Dance" ("Gracia") by Infante; their own arrangement of "The Lover and the Nightingale" by Granados, and "Malaguena" by Lecuona. The artists are unusually generous with encore numbers.

Other Numbers
Clarence Cullin, founder of musical Arts Club, sponsors of the duo, said today, "The music lover who misses this concert will forego one of the finest musical treats coming to the coast this season." Remaining numbers on the course are Marion Anderson, celebrated Negro contralto, singing here on the night of February 16, and the popular Trudi Schoop Comic Ballet on the night of March 3.

Sorry To Disillusion You--—'BUT THERE AIN'T NO GROUND
HOG AND HE WON'T COME OUT!'

Tomorrow is Ground Hog day. The tawny little prophet is supposed to slip out of his burrow, stretch, look around for his shadow and if he sees it, that's six weeks bad weather dead ahead. But:

February 2nd isn't really Ground Hog day. The day is Candlemas Day, a name given to it early in the Christian era.

Gets Mixed Up
In a churchy sense it commemorates the presentation of the Christ child in the temple and the purification of the mother. But somehow the day got mixed with weather forecasting. A fair day and much winter to come and vice versa.

The ground-hog isn't a ground-hog. He's a common woodchuck and too often confused with the European hedgehog. The ground-hog may come out of his hibernation anytime before, on, or after February 2. It all depends on how fat he is, how cold, how hungry, or the bad air in his burrow or perhaps even on the activity of his endocrine glands.

Matter of Physiology
He may lack sugar and suffer a reduced blood count. As a matter of fact, science has found out that the woodchuck does not arouse himself until the latter half of February, and often not until early March. The earliest date on record for his appearance is February 7, and that was in North Carolina. Moreover, he may hibernate even in summer.

Up to Weatherman
Finally, if the ground-hog were a ground-hog and he did come out February 2 to see his shadow, you wouldn't know any more about the weather.

So, disillusioning as it may be, if you look anywhere for weather dope today, better stick to that same little box the weather man contributes.

Playmates Are Bidden
To Happy Party

Celebrating the fifth birthday anniversary of her small daughter, Jo Ann, Mrs. Veri M. Underwood entertained a group of children and their mothers very delightfully Saturday afternoon in her home, 708 North Baker street.

Games were so arranged that each child received a prize, while special prizes were awarded in a peanut hunt to Ruby Jane Abernathy and Jo Ann herself, and in pinning the tail on the donkey, to La Donna Wakefield and Don Lewis Underwood.

Mrs. Underwood used festoons of bright serpentine with balloons from the chandelier above the dining table, where refreshments were served by the light of red candles in valentine effect. In the center of the table was the big blue and white birthday cake with five velvety tapers and at each place was a valentine box of candies to be enjoyed with the cake, ice cream, topped with maraschino cherries, and colored animal cookies. Big balloons were additional favors for the children, and there were many gifts for the little honoree.

Both of Jo Ann's grandmothers were present to share the birthday party. Mrs. J. D. Kille and Mrs. Myrtle Underwood, Mrs. Kille, Mrs. Raymond C. Underwood and Mrs. C. W. Abernathy assisted the hostess in serving. Other adult guests were Mrs. Darrell E. Wakefield and Mrs. Roland J. Weir. Children present were Marlene McCullum, Helen Louise and Rosemary Weir, Marjorie Dawn and Don Lewis Underwood, Darlene, Joanne and La Donna Wakefield, Caroline and Ruby Jane Abernathy.

Mixing Bowl

Meatless meals are becoming the rule rather than the exception. For such a meal use one of the vegetable proteins; for example, lima beans. And, because limas are reputed to be an "incomplete protein" we will use milk in today's lima bean recipe, the second example of a busy day oven baked dish.

Creamed Limas With Green Pepper Seasoning

1 scant cups of baby limas, picked over, washed and soaked in cold water for 2 hours.

1 can cream of mushroom soup

1 cup milk

Small piece of butter

1-2 green pepper, chopped fine and sautéed in the butter

Salt and pepper to taste

Set the beans to boil and when they have cooked for fifteen minutes, add a pinch of soda, stir up, drain and rinse well. Put beans back to cook in fresh hot water, with a slice of onion and a spray of parsley (these you take out later). When the beans are tender add the soup and milk, seasonings and sautéed pepper. Turn them into a shallow buttered casserole or leave them in an uncovered kettle to simmer for an hour over slow heat. When green peppers are out of season, use a piece of canned pimiento. This quantity serves six, leaving enough for next day's luncheon (I hope).

If you have shelves on your hips all-of-a-sudden, get busy and save for our life saver, the Safe and Sane reducing diet. It costs nothing but the effort to write and a stamped envelope to bring it to you.

To cook sauerkraut well is really an accomplishment, not often possessed by young wives. I was an outstanding example: I ordered it from the grocer, carried the smelly thing home at arm's length, and

Dinner, Reception Honor
Shrine Supreme Officers

Masonic temple was scene of a brilliant reception last night when Damascus Shrine, Order of White Shrine of Jerusalem honored Supreme Worthy High Priestess Mrs. Elma E. Hullinger of Springfield, Ohio and Supreme Watchman of Shepherds Walter J. Combelleck of Long Beach. Three hundred members and guests attended.

The supreme officers were accompanied by past supreme officers, Victoria L. Crouse and Marian H. Helme of Hollywood and Ernest E. Ford of Los Angeles, together with the presiding officers and many members of the 25 Shrines of Southern California. Out of state visitors were present from Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Oregon and Illinois.

Mrs. Pearl Hyde and Willard Patterson, worthy high priestess and watchman of shepherds, conducted the meeting. Escorted in addition to the two honor guests, the past supreme officers were Amy Berry, supreme herald; Katherine Byrd, national chairman of reorganization of districts; 10 worthy high priestesses, seven watchmen of shepherds and 25 past officers.

Mrs. Hullinger, wearing a lame formal gown, was presented with a lei of gardenias and yellow sweet peas matching the corsage bouquets given to past supreme officers. There were gifts of money in boxes adorned with orange blossoms for Mrs. Hullinger and Mr. Combelleck.

Sunny California

Other decorations were in keeping with a California motif, centering around a miniature mission at the large banquet table where turkey dinner was served in advance of other features, here were miniature Mexican carts and colorful pottery platters filled with oranges, and bouquets of sunny calendulas.

Mrs. Marie Beisel, general chairman of the affair, was assisted by a dining room committee composed of Pearl Nicholson, Florence Wright, Marie Patterson, Ince Orton, Pearl Hyde, Willard Patterson, Neal Beisel and W. W. Hyde.

Mrs. Beisel also had charge of a program which climaxed the reception. Gladys Simpson Shafer (Mrs. Burr Shafer) directed Miss Betty Willis, Miss Betty Carlson and Richard Gardner in a one-act comedy. Bruce Buell sang selections, accompanied by Mrs. Amy Buell; Billy Wood played accordion solos.

served it for dinner, raw. My first knowledge that kraut was a food one could cook and enjoy, was when I was taught to make it with spare ribs. For four people you will need:

1 can (No. 2 1/2) of sauerkraut or a like amount of bulk kraut

1 small onion

2 strips of pork spare ribs

Salt and pepper

Rinse the kraut and arrange it in a shallow baking pan, sprinkle with the minced onion and arrange the ribs cut in nice serving pieces, over the kraut. Salt and pepper the ribs, add a cup of hot water and bake about 3 hours in a very slow oven. Add water as required but let it bake out towards the last.

Par-broil weiners and tuck over kraut in a deeper baking dish. Dot with butter, salt and pepper, add a little water, cover and bake slowly for 2 hours... grand food for supper on a cold night.

The sauce given here, may be used as a dressing for seafood cocktail, or, whipped into a couple of cakes of cream cheese and served with a bowl of crisp potato chips, you'll find your dinner guests responding but feebly to your choicest dinner, after partaking.

Sauce for Cocktails or Hors D'Oeuvres

2 table spoons drained grated horseradish

5 drops of tobacco sauce

2 table spoons catsup

Juice of 2 lemons

1 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon steak sauce.

Additional catsup may be added when the sauce is used for a cocktail. Add finely chopped green pepper, heat the sauce and pour it over small oysters in a dish lined with toast points, bake, and behold: the choicest of Oyster Pepper Roasts.

Luncheon Plan
Is Suggestion
Of Valentines

Like a pretty valentine, with its clustered ranunculus blossoms glowing against the white linen background, was the table arrangement for a charmingly appointed luncheon at which Mrs. Rose Havely yesterday entertained a group of friends at the Doris Kathryn.

The seasonal motif appearing in the flower arrangement, was accented by place cards in the form of the romantic missives so popular at this season of the year.

These were written for Mrs. Havely and for her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Bond, together with Mesdames William Stauffer, W. F. Kistinger, Warren Freeman, R. R. Caldwell, Harry Bueter, C. C. Fuller, Rosa Fuller, George W. Bond, J. D. Watkins, C. C. Franson, Milo K. Daughters, John Bower, Addie Lowe, John Cozad and Guy Grigg.

After the luncheon hour in the popular tea room, the hostess led the way to the Clarence Bond home, 2019 Victoria Drive, where an afternoon of needlework and music was enjoyed. Little Miss Beverly Bond served as guest artist for her grandmother, and played two violin numbers, the Fifth Air Varié from a theme by Weigl, and "Barcarole" from "Tales of Hoffman." Miss Charlotte Stafford was her accompanist, Miss Beverly also played a piano solo, "Young America" to complete the musical program.

Present in addition to the hostess and the prize winners, were two guests, Louise Noyce and Pauline Potter, and members including May Conzelmann, Alice Dunn, Hazel Walker and Larline Clayton.

IN GREENVILLE HOME

Host to a group of his boy friends in the afternoon, and honor guest at a family dinner in the evening, eight-year-old George Callens found his birthday anniversary very happily celebrated late the past week in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Callens, in their Greenville home.

Party guests were Joe and Louis Osterkamp, Frank Seelye and Jimmie Kellett, and they romped through a happy afternoon, ending with birthday cake and other things that boys especially like.

Comprising the family group invited to a delicious birthday dinner in the little lad's honor were Mrs. Callens and her daughter, Mrs. Alice Callens and daughters, and son, Agnes, Anita, Angela, Andrea and Gerard, of Anaheim, with members of the home circle.

The J. Frank Burkes
To Make New Home
In Los Angeles

With the departure for Los Angeles of the J. Frank Burkes from the beautiful home on Panorama Heights where they have presided so graciously for the past few years, and the departure at the same time of their son-in-law and daughter, the Loyal K. Kings, for their newly completed home on North Park boulevard, many neighborhood and friendly ties are being severed.

Mr. and Mrs. Burke have been contemplating this move for some time, since Mr. Burke's KFVD radio interests keep him in Los Angeles constantly, and their son Franklin Burke is in the city as manager of the station. So they are establishing their home there at this time. The hilltop home where their hospitality has been extended so frequently, will now be occupied by its new owners, the George Sattlers.

Among friendly farewell courtesies extended Mr. and Mrs. Burke before their departure, was the bridge dinner at which the Walter D. Ranney entertained the past week in their home, 2321 North Park boulevard.

Dinner was served to the accompaniment of pink sweet peas combined with pale mauve stocks, with the dinner candles repeating the two charming colors. Contract in the evening hours was highly successful for Mrs. Maxwell Burke and Loyal K. King, to whom went prizes for high scoring, and to Mrs. Theo A. Winbiger who received a consolation gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Ranney entertained with their honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Burke, Mrs. J. S. Smart, and Mrs. Maxwell Burke, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, the Loyal K. Kings, the A. J. Lasbys, the Theo A. Winbigers and the Adam Zaisers.

Pianist Appears With Fort McArthur
Symphony

Among interesting musical activities of the past week for Clarence Gustlin, well known pianist teacher and composer of the city, was his appearance as guest pianist on two successive programs of the Fort McArthur Symphony orchestra given in the Fort McArthur social hall.

Robert Resta is conductor of this 75-piece orchestra, whose members are drawn from the Fort McArthur community as well as from the post band. He is retiring later this year, and plans are under way for the formation of a symphony orchestra at San Pedro which he will be asked to conduct.

In appearing as guest artist with the group, the Santa Ana pianist chose a Liszt Transcription, and played also a Concert Waltz by di Lillio, a returned navy bandmaster. This composition took first place in a contest recently staged by Director Resta, and according to Mr. Gustlin, is extremely well done melodically, and is to be orchestrated for use by the Symphony.

Mrs. Gustlin accompanied her husband to both recitals and on the opening evening, they were dinner guests in San Pedro of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Darsie. VERMONT MANSION REMAINS
OPEN 51 YEARS AS ORDERED

CUTTINGSVILLE, Vt. (UP)—If John Bowman were to return to his "gingerbread" style mansion in this tiny hillside village he would find everything just as he left it when he died 51 years ago.

For the tanner's helper who became a wealthy country man, died believing in an Oriental mysticism that some day would return him to the rugged mountain countryside where he was born, prospered, met misfortune and died.

John Bowman was born in the early 1820's of ordinary parents on a farm at Pierce's Corner, six miles from Cuttingville. He was educated in the village school, did farm chores and occasionally stole away for a dip in the swimming hole.

As a young man he worked in a Rutland tannery, learned the business carefully and later with small savings started a tannery of his own. The business prospered, he purchased another factory and at middle age was a prosperous bachelor.

Then he married and two daughters were born nearly 20 years apart. Financially independent, he returned to his native village, built a monumental mansion and moved there with his family. A few months later his wife, then his daughters died.

To ease his sorrow and as a fitting tribute to his family, he built a cemetery next to his home in a meadow overlooking the Green Mountains. In it was placed a mausoleum where his wife and daughters are buried, and when completed, was endowed and given to the town.

Grief stricken, he turned to reincarnation for help and grew to believe that the dead one day would return.

Later, when critically ill, he made provisions for his own reincarnation by hiring a village couple and instructing them in their duties as caretakers of the estate.

George N. Jones and his wife, elderly persons who have been there 20 years, scoff at the "come-back" idea.

But for 51 years his deathbed orders have been carried out. The Bowman mansion always is open. Walks are shoveled, lawns cut, and the house freshly cleaned. Furniture is as it was when used by the family, potted plants are watered and even the lights are turned up in the evening.

Everything is ready if ever John Bowman returns.

SUITABLE ENVIRONMENT

"Now look what you have done. Just look!"
"Could I help it?"
"You could if you were just a little careful. I've told you once, not to look around the room when you are eating. Why you can't learn to eat like a human being is beyond me. Move your plate. Sit over there until I get this mess wiped up. This makes the third time in four days. If you had to wash and iron them, or pay for having it done, you'd look what you were doing. Never in all my life—"

"Bang! The slam shook the pictures on the wall and rattled the dishes in the cupboard. John Henry was stamping off to his room, outraged, choked, ready to snort, tip and tear."

"Now what's the use, Mary? The boy didn't mean to spill his milk—"

"That's right. Take his part. You know yourself that he never sits down to a meal without doing something of the sort before he finishes. I've something else to do beside do up table cloths."

"I know, I know; but he's only a boy and a clumsy one at that. He'd break his neck to do something to please you—"

"I'm not asking for his neck. All I want—"

"I know, I know. Housekeeping is more important than the boy's peace in his home. Well—"

Father went upstairs the picture of misery. Mother finished clearing the table in silence. Granny silently helped her with the dishes and then sat down to rest in the quiet of the empty living-room, both very conscious of the two exiles in her chair, Granny sighed.

"What can I do, mother? I can't have the place look like a hurrah's nest."

"I was thinking, Mary. Maybe we could dress the house more suitably—"

"Suitably? What in the world. Now wait. Maybe you won't like what I'm going to say, but I do think it might help. Suppose you bought one of those table-cloths that you can wash off, and used paper napkins instead of using the good linen."

"I'd hate it."

"I think you might get used to it and like it. And cover the chairs in the living-room with pretty chintz covers instead of using them as they are and worrying about them. Then, when you wanted to dress up your child—"

"When is that child—11 he is now, remember—going to learn to use a house like a house? If he sets into the habit of slopping his food all over an oilcloth cover, putting his feet on the chairs because they have covers that can be washed—"

"He won't. The table-covers are pretty. He really wants to do what you want done, but just now he is dreamy and clumsy. Give him a chance. He will get over this, and then you can dress the house as you like. When you have to do your own work it is better to simplify it as much as you can. It's more important to keep a home happy than to keep it dressed up."

There's a lot of truth in that. The home has to be made suitable for the children who live in it; made easy for the housekeeper. A spotted table-cloth, a marred table or chair makes a storm out of proportion to their value. Train children by gradual degrees, in a suitable environment.

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE CORBY—heroine; richest girl in the world.
BRET HARDEST—hero; bridge builder.
RODNEY BRANDON—Constance's fiancé.
KATIE BLYN—Constance's "double."

Yesterday Bret turns the tables on Constance and leaves as she may win her divorce uncontested.

CHAPTER XXIII
WHEN Connie reached the pier where "The Constance," her million-dollar yacht, was docked, ready for a midnight sailing, she thought at first that Rodney was not yet there. There was no one in sight, no sound except the swish of waves lapping against the sides of the big white boat, whose lights shimmered in myriad reflections upon the dark water. Then as she started up the plank, Rodney stepped from the shadows.

"My dear—you did come! I was afraid you wouldn't. I couldn't believe it, really. I can't believe it now." He caught her arm, held her off, as though he would feast his eager eyes upon the reality of her presence.

"I've been waiting a long while," he said. "Though I knew you had said midnight, I've been waiting all my life for this moment, Connie dearest."

"I'm sorry," she said, in a voice that sounded weary and tired, "to have kept you waiting, Rodney. I'm sorry for what I have come to tell you. Rodney, dear—I want to thank you for trying to be of some use to me, for being such an understanding friend, for waiting so terribly long. . . . But, Rodney, I came to tell you: I'm not going."

"Not going!" He dropped her arm, stood staring at her. He was so taken back that he looked a bit foolish. Here they were, just the two of them, at midnight, as they had planned, half way up the gangplank to the yacht that was to take them away together—and Connie stood here telling him she was not going.

"No, I'm not going." She waited a moment. "We could go in and talk. But I haven't much time to spare. I'm going away, but not with you, Rodney."

"I don't believe I quite understand you." He drew himself up; spoke stiffly.

"I don't expect you to. But I came to try to help you to understand. I didn't want to run away from you again, Rodney. I'm never going to run from anything again. I've found that isn't the way to escape, the way to find freedom or happiness."

"I know," Connie said. She laid a hand on his sleeve; her eyes were full of a sort of pity, her smile sweet and sorrowful. "I don't blame you, Rodney, for taking it this way. But at least, as I said, I didn't run away again. You see I'm not going to divorce Bret. That wouldn't do any good. I would still be married to him, Rodney. He would still be my husband. Nothing could change that, not even if I were married to you."

"You never belonged together. It was all a mistake. He'll always be different. Not of your world. Or you of his. . . ."

"Then we'll have to make still another one," Connie said. "You see, Rodney, there's something else—the strongest thing in the world, bigger than any of us, than all the money, our foolish impulses and desires, than logic or reason. It's love, Rodney."

"You think you love Bret, then?"

"I know I love him. Oh, I was foolish enough for a little while to pretend that I didn't. I'm a great pretender, didn't you know that, Rodney?" Her laugh rang out on the still night air, rippling, edged with an acid bitterness. "I pretend at whatever amuses me for the moment. At being miserable, or gay—or somebody else—even at being just what I truly am. I'm spoiled and pampered and young and foolish. I've always had everything, except the one thing I wanted, that I could not buy with all my millions. But now, Rodney, I've grown up, at last. Maybe too late. I'm not sure. For the thing I want, that is. Maybe too late to try again. To stop pretending for all time."

"AND so," she finished, and now she held out her hand to him, "this is goodbye, Rodney. I am sorry I could not love you. Sorry to have to hurt you a second time. I shall think of you as my very good friend, always."

"You're going after Bret," Rodney said. It was not a question. He accepted her hand, held it between his own, let it go, reluctantly.

"Yes. If I can find him. If he'll give me another chance."

"He will. No man could refuse you. You're very beautiful, and desirable, Connie. And—no matter what you think, what you've said about yourself—you're very brave, too."

"Thank you, Rodney dear. There were tears shining in her eyes, a lump in her throat. "I'm not really. Though I'll try to be. Because you thought it of me. Goodbye again, my dear. I must

LAG IN OUTPUT RAISES FRENCH COAL PROBLEM

PARIS (UP)—Although France has never been able to satisfy all requirements in coal, lacking several of the types needed in heavy industries, latest statistics show that home production is beginning to lag and imports are increasing rapidly.

The coal industry in France has seen its means of existence completely modified during the past 18 months. A study of the returns reveals that cost of production has increased considerably (labor accounts for about two-thirds of the cost of production), while there has been a big drop in production owing to the application of the 40-hour week. Foreign imports also have been benefited by the depreciation of the franc.

To examine these points one by one, wage statistics show that the application of the Matignon accord in June, 1937, increased salaries by 12 to 15 per cent. There followed on the steps of this increase three more, the first in February, 1937, with an average added increase of 5 per cent, the second in May, 1937, also of 5 per cent, and a third in October, 1937, of 7 per cent. This entailed a proportionate rise in the cost of production.

Production itself was dealt three successive blows. The first was paid vacations, nearly all taking place in August (for the Nord and Pas-de-Calais departments production for August, 1937, was only 1,491,000 tons compared with 2,146,000 tons in July); the second blow was the application of the 40-hour week which in actual practice means 35 hours actual work while the third is a fall in the daily individual production of each miner. In June, 1937, individual production was about 1,600 pounds a day which was 9 per cent lower than the figure for the first three months of 1936.

The industry has taken on virtually every available miner to be found in France, besides having brought in a large number of foreign specialists, and in the Nord and Pas de Calais departments alone the figure rose from 221,606 miners in May, 1936, to 241,620 in October, 1937. But despite this, production has fallen considerably and for the foregoing two departments the net production for the first six months of 1937 was 22,143,250 tons which is 1,760,000 tons less than for the corresponding period of 1936.

Slight Gain at Close of 1937

Following the miners' agreement to do a few extra days over and above their normal quota of 40 hours a week, production during the past few months has showed some increase but it was slight. In the meantime imports continued to increase; for the first nine months of 1937 France imported 18,737,441 tons of coal, as compared with 13,615,243 tons for the same period in 1936.

For the same period coke imports rose from 1,880,692 tons to 2,865,981 tons while agglomerates rose from a bare 15,000 tons to 701,504 tons.

The successive lowerings of the value of the franc, coupled with substantial increases in freight charges in French railroads, however, have done something to sustain the industry so that it can now be said the situation is less unfavorable than it might have been. Nevertheless, the shareholder's point of view is that 25 years ago the annual capital needed to produce one ton of coal was 50 francs. A company producing 3,000,000 tons per annum would have an annual working of 150 million gold francs. In present circumstances, it is calculated that a similar enterprise would only be able to distribute 1 per cent to its shareholders.

Orange county's police radio station operation must go on!

That was the order which Edison company workmen received today and began to fill. A direct power line connection to the radio station at the sheriff's office is being installed so that service may be on, uninterrupted by stop or other events which might throw off the power in the sheriff's office lighting system.

At present, the radio power is "tied in" with the lighting system. When workmen complete the job, officials said, there will be separate systems, one for the sheriff's office proper, the other for the radio. Operation of the radio has been interrupted several times it was said.

Former Sailor Is Sent To Prison

William Barnes, 24, ex-sailor from South Gate, climaxed an extensive career of larceny today when Superior Judge James L. Allen sentenced him to San Quentin for a term of from one to ten years. Barnes was sentenced for grand theft of $80 from the person of Sam Matson, Costa Mesa, whom he "rolled" after a drinking bout in a Sunset Beach cafe January 8.

Barnes' record, according to the authorities, contains a dishonorable discharge from the navy and three prior cases of theft.

Today, I heard a new "sub-rosa" story about that leopard which in "Bringing Up Baby"—a story in "Bringing Up Baby"—a story too good to keep. The big cat was supposed to purr, and delivered on demand. But the purr was so magnified by the sensitive recording apparatus that it sounded like the roar of a 16 cylinder motor. After fighting the problem for several days, technicians hit upon a solution. When you hear the leopard purr, be advised that a six-month-old kitten—an ordinary alley cat—doubled for those "sing-in" scenes.

That, said the modest Gregory, "was different I am to have as good an actor as I can to work with."

Death at the hands of her business partner brought to an end the amazing success story of Mrs. Edith Mae Cummings, who four years after becoming a telephone operator, was a millionaire real estate operator in Detroit. Mrs. Julia M. FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(UP)—The stock market, extended yesterday's gains today but trading fell off further as Wall Street continued cautious.

Bonds advanced under lead of railroad issues. Wheat gained more than a cent a bushel. Cotton futures were steady.

Experts said the stock list still was experiencing a technical recovery. American Telephone had another spell of weakness and observers said further declines in the issue might result in a sharp break.

Telephone today made a new low since 1935 at 139 1/2 off 3/4 and then support. Volume in the issue was lighter than yesterday when it lost two points.

DRIVE CAREFULLY -SAVE A LIFE-

GOOD BYE BUFFALO

Another old friend is leaving us—the buffalo nickel.

He is 25 years old, with his well-worn design of an Indian head on one side and a bison on the other. The law permits changing coins every 25 years, and so, just for variety or something, we will have a new kind of nickel this spring, with Jefferson on one side and his old home, Monticello, on the other.

The design will be different, but the central problem will be the same, whether it is the buffalo or the Jefferson nickel—how to get more of them.

THINGS ONE REMEMBERS

That "general feeling" is no pipe dream in the United States today. The politicians can advance all the alibis they like about why crippled business, but some every simple facts remain—little business and small investor are afraid. Taxation, political attacks on business, and labor radicalism have driven him into his cyclone cellar.

For example, the owner of a successful meat market and grocery store in Portland, Ore., wanted to make $6000 improvements. Fearing labor troubles, he wouldn't start.

A successful groceryman near Portland recently bought a lot on which to build a store for his business which is in an old rented building. But under present conditions, he said, "Why should I start in the face of the present financial and industrial mess?"

A small business firm in Portland which should re-invest a few thousand dollars, has held off for two months because of uncertainties, and disturbance of security values which has been aggravated by the political drive on business.

Multiply this situation by 10,000 times over the United States, and you get that "general feeling" that no one can laugh off.

Why beat about the bush? Check up on your own feelings, as well as those of your friends, and draw your own conclusions as to what is causing the business slump.

BOOTLEGGING NOT DESTROYED

True enough, the worst phase of bootlegging, when rival gangs fought it out in the streets of our big cities, and bribery and collusion were taken as a matter of course, seems to have passed with repeal.

But the bootlegger is still with us. Last year the enforcement division of the Alcohol Tax Unit of the U. S. Treasury seized 16,142 stills, with a mash capacity of nearly three million gallons. In connection with those raids 12,000 gallons of mash were seized and destroyed.

During 1937 there were also 29,477 persons arrested for federal liquor law violation, and in 695 major liquor conspiracy cases investigated, 2104 defendants were convicted in court.

That indicates a very considerable amount of bootlegging even in the face of legal liquor, and proves all over again the only thing that is certain about the liquor problem: it has never been completely solved.

Certainly we ought to have learned by now that no single stroke, no single law, no single plan is going to solve forever a human problem that has been with us at least since the days of Noah.

Constant and temperate application of all we can learn by experience, the broadest education of the individual, gradual yet persistent efforts to temper and control the worst phases of the problem as they arise—these offer a better hope for the future than any dogmatic "one-shot" solution offered by extremists of either persuasion.

DAME FORTUNE SMILES

For 25 years Col. Lewis Walker begged his friends and neighbors to put their money into an invention he had bought.

Walker had money, and put it into producing the patented article. His fortune withered away. He inherited some more money, and sent that after the first. Still the thing didn't pay out.

Walker was certain it was a good thing. He pleaded with everyone he knew who had money to put some of it into development of his project. Nearly all of them refused. The thing wasn't practical, people wouldn't want it, you couldn't make it cheaply enough, a dozen and one excuses instantly came to the minds of the reluctant friends who were too careful of their money to throw any of it into "wildcat" schemes.

The invention? Just a simple thing called the "hookless fastener." Col. Walker saw it at the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893. He bought out the inventor. For 20 years there was nothing but failure. No one would buy the manufactured product.

Today's versions of the "hookless fastener" are commonly called zippers, and under various trade names you will find them on every kind of garment from overshoes to scanties. During the past 10 years the contrivance found the place Colonel Walker had envisioned all down through these discouraging years. He died, a little while ago, a rich man.

Nobody knows. But on that combination of people with ideas and people with money and nerve to back them, will depend on the speed with which we climb out of today's depressed conditions. The few people who "strung along" with Colonel Walker, like the original backers of Henry Ford, made a great deal of money and performed a socially useful service. They are the kind of people we need so desperately today.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

The following are a continuation to questions we submitted to Jay Franklin and his answers with further questions for Mr. Franklin to answer:

5. What would you suggest that the automobile manufacturers should do, when they have had the greatest and most rapid decrease in sales in their history with the large, piled up inventory?

Mr. Franklin answers, "Cut profit margins."

(a) Can the manufacturer determine whether there is profit before his goods are sold?

(b) If he cannot determine, how can he cut from something that he does not know he has?

6. Would you suggest that these manufacturers keep on producing cars that the people are telling them, by their refusal to buy, they do not want at the price? If you did, what would you do with these cars after you had manufactured and piled up more of them?

Mr. Franklin answers, "Lower prices."

(a) Would you continue to produce if the prices were so low that they did not reimburse you for the food, shelter and indulgences required to produce these cars?

7. Would you sell them at a loss?

Mr. Franklin answers, "If necessary."

(a) Would you continue to manufacture cars at less than they cost you to produce?

(b) If so, where would you get the funds for low cost cars later on?

8. If the loss was so much that the capital was depleted and you could not produce more cars, would this benefit the workers in the long run?

Mr. Franklin answers, "No."

9. Would you cut the costs?

Mr. Franklin answers, "Cut profit margins."

(a) Is there any way of knowing the actual "margin of profits" until the thing is sold?

10. If so how, would you cut the costs to benefit the workers in the long run?

Mr. Franklin answers, "Continuous production."

(a) Would you have continuous production if, in your judgment, you were spending more in food, shelter and indulgences in producing the cars than the public was willing to furnish you in exchange in food, shelter and indulgences required to build the automobiles?

11. Would it be working for the general welfare to continue to make cars just to furnish work?

Mr. Franklin answers, "If the cars are needed, yes."

(a) Is this answer not inconsistent to your answer to question No. 8?

(b) How would you define "needed"?

(c) Would not continuing production to furnish work without getting cost out of them eventually exhaust the tools (the capital) of the employer and later reduce the standard of living?

(d) How would you determine whether the cars were needed?

(e) Who would be the judge as to need?

(f) What rule would you have to determine who would be entitled to cars, if the individual who "needed" the car would not give as much in food, shelter and indulgences as the cars cost?

The twelfth question will be reproduced, together with the answer and comments, in tomorrow's issue.

UPLIFTING HUMANITY

The difficulty of uplifting one class of the people was clearly presented some 50 years ago by William Graham Sumner. He aptly expressed the difficulty by saying:

"For our present purpose it is most important to notice that if we lift any man up we must have a fulcrum, or point of reaction. In society that means that to lift one man up we push another down. The schemes for improving the condition of the working classes interfere in the competition of workmen with each other. The beneficiaries are selected by favoritism, and are apt to be those who have recommended themselves to the friends of humanity by language or conduct which does not betoken independence and energy."

That is what has happened in this recession. We permitted certain groups to have their unit wages increased by 25 per cent during 1937, as reported by the General Motors, and the fulcrum in this case was the buyers of automobiles who were pushed down so low that they could not buy.

The result was that the General Motors had a more rapid decline in sales than they have had in their history.

CALIFORNIA'S RELIEF PROGRAM

M. W. Skelton, director of Kern county welfare department, hit the nail on the head as to the cause of the extraordinary relief trouble for California citizens, when he pointed out that the cost of relief in a typical county in Oklahoma was $4.09 per person, as compared with $27.08 in California.

Is it any wonder that thousands of people needing relief are coming to California when they can come here and get along for one year and then get relief on this basis, compared with what they get in other parts of the country?

If this continues, there eventually will be no property in California worth very much. Property is of no value to anyone to own, unless there is something left after the taxes are paid. When the taxes take all it is earning, it ceases to have private value.

OUR PROPOSED NAVY EXPENDITURES

As an example of the shortsightedness and inconsistency of government planning, we are now proposing to spend about $1,000,000,000 a year on navy and army; it is well to recall that in 1921 our government officials agreed to sink its new navy, including two nearly completed battleships and seven battleships and six heavy cruisers then in the course of construction.

Now we propose to spend hundreds of millions to build battleships which a few years ago we were foolish enough to destroy.

Yet, we want our government officials to have more and more control over private business when most everything they do handle they so mismanage.

Outside The President's Office

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

WASHINGTON, D. C.—My erstwhile playmate, Donald Riechberg, is right in his proposals for modifying the anti-trust acts to tell business what it can as well as what it cannot do, and to set up some administrative body to validate proposed corporate action preserving civil liability in case of injury by illegal action.

He is right in his proposals and right in his supporting argument. He has given this subject study for many years, as have I. I proposed a similar solution in a report of the War Industries Board written in 1918. I advocated it in my Senate testimony on N.R.A. in April, 1935, and continuously since in this column, on the air and in dozens of speeches.

What argument can there be against such a proposal? In prohibiting any contract or combination in restraint of trade, the Anti-Trust Acts attempt to inhibit the inevitable. Every contract and combination is to some extent "in restraint of trade." What we have never had, is a clear definition of what we really intend to prohibit. Notwithstanding the Anti-Trust Acts, we have seen during their life the greatest concentrations of economic power in the history of the world. While some have been oppressive, in the main they have enriched and raised all standards of living. They were less the design of any brain than a result of the rapid development of one single national market of 130,000,000 people. That made mass-production and mass-distribution both desirable and inevitable.

Some of them, like General Motors and U. S. Steel, grew by combination. Others, like A. & P., the Ford Motor Company, and the Eastman Kodak Company, were built by individuals. It is silly to content ourselves with futile laws condemning what could not be prevented. It would be both destructive and futile now to attempt to break them up into little pieces. The sensible course in the past would have been to encourage the good they did for the public and prevent the evil. That would be the sensible course now. That, as I understand it, is the essence of Mr. Riechberg's proposal. Up to now, control of them has been in the Federal Trade Commission and the Department of Justice. Due to faults in the law, as interpreted by the courts, the policy has been to authorize them to do little or nothing. The courts have read the word "unreasonable" into their flat prohibitions of restraint of trade. The result has been that whatever industry did, it did on its peril on the question of whether it was reasonable or not. There was no sufficient definition of monopoly, or "monopolistic practice," or even of interstate commerce. Trials and administrative decisions built up a structure of things forbidden but gave little light of things permitted.

If an industry has a plan for improvement or expansion and asks government whether the law permits it, the figurative answer is: "Oh, that is a secret. Go ahead and do it and then if we don't like it, you will be hung, drawn and quartered." That has made a dim twilight zone of much of the field of industrial operation in which there has been a great deal of stumbling and doubtless some dark and bloody deeds.

What sense is there in a law like that? It mothers legalistic trickery and a great impairment in the public responsibility of these vast economic baronies. More than anything else, what business needs to enable it to activate recovery is a clear definition of its road ahead. The government has stepped into so many positions of economic control, that government alone can now make the path plain. Statutory definitions of what can and cannot be done may be harsh, but if they are only clear, that will be far better than the present fog of almost complete uncertainty.

Editor Register:

Herewith is a copy of a letter I have sent to the Editor of Labor in Washington, D. C. I think your readers will be interested in it.

Referring to article in Labor dated Jan. 18, 1938—"Solons abandon Townsend Scheme" which says Congressman Harry Sheppard of California said "Those of us who have been going along with Dr. Townsend—" Kindly let me advise that Sheppard has not been with the Townsend plan and Dr. Townsend since early last year. Sheppard has forgotten the promise he made to the voters in Congressional District number 13 when the Townsend clubs of said district elected him to the seat he now holds in Congress.

I took so many Republicans to the recorder's office who changed their registrations so as to vote for Sheppard, the clerk said if I did not quit bringing them there would not be any more Republicans in Santa Ana. They did not vote for him on account of his being a Democrat, they voted for him because he said he would stand for Dr. Townsend and the Townsend plan regardless of who was against it. Now you can see how much his word is worth. Do you think these people are going to vote for him this fall? I say "no-no" and 90 per cent of the Democrat Townsendites I know will not. Sheppard has a few followers and they have been putting up the argument that he, Sheppard, was for House Bill HR 4199. I am just wondering what they will say now. You know the old adage, "Give a calf enough rope and it will hang itself." Well—Sheppard has, I cannot imagine how any man who claims to be for HR 4199 can make the statement quoted.

What we Townsend members would like to know—when and where Sheppard found this out. He stated many times when he was making the campaign for the office he now holds that it was the only thing that would bring prosperity back to America and that he would fight for it until it became a law.

Do you suppose the air is different in Washington than in Southern California? Well, we know it is warmer and colder, but we cannot see how this would muddle up Sheppard's brain as it has in the past year.

We elected a man and sent him to Washington to represent the people who elected him and when he is there a short time he forgets the people who elected him, and lines up with a bunch who are trying to destroy what the people at home elected him for. Now that is exactly what Sheppard is trying to do.

It appears to me—anyone who heard Sheppard speak during his campaign, and reads the article mentioned would wonder what influence Washington has on this man Sheppard.

I am a member of O. R. T. I have my gold card with 42 years continuous membership July 27, 1938.

Yours for justice and truth.
J. C. BEST.

To the Editor:

I would appreciate your kindness very much, if you will publish this. "The summing up of my replies to Colbeck." I would like to call the attention of the public to some of the "Statements" of Mr. Colbeck, which he did NOT and could NOT prove. I begin with his last article. He writes:

"My critic should remember that arguments are not won by INSOLENCE, nor calling an opponent a 'DEVIL.' As to this statement, the public may decide. But if I did, insolence from man to man is a small thing! But insolence to the God of the Universe, by calling Him 'A Pagan god.' (And his judgments, in a wicked nation) as INSANE RAGE." Is a more serious matter! He calls the Sacrifice of our Lord Jesus (which was a Ransom for all the world). (All the HONEST HEARTED). "By an IMPOSSIBLE DIETARY as a BLOODY MOSS." As to my Scripture proofs that I cited. He says: "It (The Bible) contains—FALSEHOODS, 'PROOF TEXTS ARE FUTILE,' This IS INSOLENCE to the God of the Universe!"

So "ARGUMENTS ARE NOT WON by Insolence, nor calling the Creator of heaven and earth. "A pagan god, with an INSANE RAGE, An IMPOSSIBLE DIETARY." If "Proof texts are futile" why did he quote from the words of Jesus, and then insult Jesus by calling his Father, "A pagan god with an INSANE RAGE?"

Again, he writes: "We DISASSOCIATE the philosophy of Jesus from traditionalism." Quite true! But can he DISASSOCIATE HIM from His Father, and His Father's Word? He also made the statement, "That Joseph's program led to a BLOODY REVOLUTION, of which the Bible is NAIVELY SILENT." That statement like all his others, was NEVER proven, although I challenged him to prove it! Again he writes, as follows: "The intolerance of Joseph's program wrecked the dynasty, it forced the Hebrew people into BONDAGE, from which they did not recover for FOUR THOUSAND years." Here he makes TWO mistakes! First, the Israelites were in

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1938 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. — They say the $800,000,000 new naval spending is to make the U. S. fleet second to none. That is the diplomatic way of saying it. Those 47 additional combat ships, 22 auxiliaries, 1000 more airplanes, 1200 more officers and 20,000 more men will really make it first to any navy that has even been constructed.

On the inside they call it "the Roosevelt navy." Whispering around the bridge deck is that the President himself made the choice. He knows the subject as well as the admirals. A sliding scale of recommendations is understood to have been prepared for him by the navy general board, Admiral Leahy, chief of operations and Assistant Navy Secretary Edison trotted over to the White House continuously for days explaining effects of various alternatives.

But the forceful final scale of the program was the President's personal decision.

Note—Army building phase of the program, of course, is secondary and merely a corresponding adjunct to naval purposes.

The President's decision was probably based not only on defense needs, but those of business as well.

Experts who analyzed the scope of the program predicted at first glance it would put every idle shipyard in the country to work at a rate unequal since the war.

As four years are required to build a battleship, they foresee a smooth continuous demand for products of the heavy goods industries (steel, machines, tools, etc.)

Just before the message went to congress, the federal reserve board issued its monthly business analyses, reporting significantly the December business decline "reflected chiefly a continued sharp curtailment in the durable goods industries."

The White House was slightly off in its timing of this naval defense blow, for the first time in Roosevelt history.

The message was practically ready a week ago. At least the program had been decided upon. Wisely, however, it was decided to hold off delivery until the regular naval appropriation bill was through the house and ready for the senate.

Then the strategists decided to knock off another timely bird with the same stone. They would have smothered their defeat of the anti-lynching bill by taking away the Friday morning headlines with their big navy news.

Unfortunately a house member died suddenly and the house had to adjourn, holding up the message for 24 hours.

This bad break was somewhat offset by cooperation usually to be expected from the Japanese. A Jap sentry selected this propitious occasion to slap a U. S. embassy secretary in the face.

If anything was needed to furnish impetus for the building bill in congress, this would have been it. However, none was needed. The Panay incident cleared the congressional way for nearly any kind of naval appropriations which the executive branch of the government believes to be necessary, for the maintenance of U. S. diplomatic standing.

The navy has not disclosed its hand as much as the program indicates.

For instance it is not telling and will not tell what kind of battleships those 3 new ones will be, or the 8 new cruisers, or the 2 new aircraft carriers. As a matter of fact, navy engineers have been working on various blueprints in secret long before expansion was seriously contemplated. These are supposed to favor larger battleships to match the 2 or 3 ships of 46,000 tons carrying 18-inch guns, which Japan is reported to be making. (British and American admirals are unofficially certain the Japs are building such ships.)

As for cruisers, the new ones are apt to be lighter than 10,000 tons, probably 20 per cent lighter. So are the aircraft carriers.

The lighter ships will enable the navy to defend the extended coast line conception of our frontier, including all South America.

A taboo topic which is worrying the admirals is the question of fitting new ships to the Panama canal.

The 30,000 ton airplane carriers Lexington and Saratoga can barely squeeze through. Twice the Saratoga has knocked down light posts along the edge of the locks in passing through.

They can design and have, privately, a satisfactory battleship of 45,000 tons which would clear the canal. But that is the maximum, and it means designing ships for the canal instead of fighting efficiency against an enemy.

This has brought up the question of widening the canal or building the Nicaragua canal. Of the two possibilities, the admirals seem to like the idea of widening the Panama canal.

Nicaragua would offer practically a sea level route (with only a couple of locks to guard against the 16-foot higher Atlantic tides) and would be more secure from bombing, but there are other questions. One is sanitation, which has already been provided in Panama. Another is the fact that it would be much easier and cheaper to widen Panama. And third it is easier to defend one canal than two.

That is what they probably will do—first.

WE, THE PEOPLE

By JAY FRANKLIN

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Now that that three-judge court in Tennessee has ruled that T.V.A. was born in constitutional wedlock and that the private utilities are not exempt from the laws of competition and survival of the fittest, it is apparent that the federal judiciary has been tamed to the purposes of the general welfare.

At first it was the presidency—under Harding and Coolidge and Hoover—which resisted the public will. Voters changed all that in 1932 and when the Republicans tried to restore do-nothing rule in the White House, the Landon insurrection was easily crushed in 1936.

Then came the Federal courts. The Supreme Court, in particular, was so tied to the old order that it automatically outlawed a great part of the New Deal. After a savage political campaign, lasting a little less than a year, the courts have now been co-ordinated to the national reform program and are hitting on all nine cinders for the New Deal.

The remaining obstacle is in congress, in the unreformed senate and the seniority rule which gives the old-timers a death-grip on legislative procedure in both houses. It is in congress, rather than in the courts, that the people have found their greatest enemy for the last 12 months.

The filibusters in the senate, both the camouflaged filibuster in committee against the judiciary reform bill and the farm bill, the open denial of the parliamentary process over the anti-lynching bill, have been matched by the sit-down strike of the house rules committee on the labor standards bill and by the incredible twisting and squirming in both houses over other legislation. In his message on the state of the union, Mr. Roosevelt expressed the belief that congress would not let the people down. Those who know the ingrained traditions of Capitol Hill are far from sure that the President is justified in this trusting attitude.

For congress, assumed after the 1936 election, that Mr. Roosevelt would not be a candidate for re-election in 1940 and that henceforth each senator and representative must fend for himself and face the voters without coasting on the Presidential coat-tails, or feigning Roosevelt reprisals. Under the circumstances, the professional politicians turned to the big business interests, as the hart to the water-brooks, and listened to the fatal folly of those who argued that all would be well with them and with the country so long as the government did nothing about anything.

The monument to their congressional desertion of their leadership and their program is the unemployment figures, the relief rolls, the so-called stock market quotations and the general jitter. In this connection, it should be recalled that business has been let alone, that there has been no important piece of national legislation since the spring of 1935 (nearly two years), and that the do-nothing policy has brought us spank into another depression.

The question is: Will congress be co-ordinated next? The answer lies in the coming primaries and the November elections. If the voters fail to destroy the politicians who have let them down, then it is obvious that that is the type of politician the people want to represent them at Washington and that the New Deal is washed out.

Egypt ONLY 430 years. Exodus 12:40-41. Second, Joseph's program had nothing to do with making slaves of the Hebrew people. Exodus 1:8-11. He also made the statement that,

"Joseph cornered the wheat market, that for seven years he gathered the wheat from the farmers, and paid NOTHING for it; and sold it back to the people at exorbitant prices. And sold SEED to the farmers at a rate of interest ruinous to the farmers." All these statements were proved from the Bible to be just plain, plain, plain what? Well, to say the least, extravagant statements! And this is the reason we were INSOLENT and our "PROOF TEXTS FU-TILE."

If Jesus was an IMPOSTER, and the account of his miraculous birth, death, and resurrection, was FALSE, and all his miracles raising Lazarus from the dead, opening the eyes of the blind, and many others were NEVER true, the fame of Jesus would NEVER have gotten outside the city of Jerusalem!

Colbeck, himself, has admitted that Jesus was put to death by the Jews, because of envy, because Jesus condemned them for their traditions, and false living. Admitting this. Why does he DENY the rest of the history of Jesus? He quotes from Jesus' words, "I am the light of the world." In order to prove that the WORD of God, the old Bible, was FALSE!
